Warm weather creates dangerous ice

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The delightful warmer weather conditions caused dangerous conditions on both the Chain O'Lakes and the Fox River. Over the weekend, at least two people slipped into the area waterways, although all were able to get out without injury.

The First Fire Protection District Dive Team was called on two separate occasions on Sunday evening, within a two-hour span. In the first incident, an 11 year-old boy fell into the water at Loon Lake. Before the Fire Department and Antioch Rescue Squad had arrived on the scene, the boy had been pulled out of the water.

When emergency personnel arrived the Antioch Rescue Squad was able to treat the child and release him to his mother.

Almost as soon as the trucks had arrived back at the station, emergency personnel were called out to the west side of Antioch at Mentones. Apparently, a fisherman fell through the ice.

The man, who wanted to get in one last round of ice fishing, was able to climb out on his own and required no transport to a hospital.

The Antioch Fire Department cautions residents about the hazardous conditions. "As a result of the unseasonably warm weather, the Antioch Fire Department recommends everyone to stay off the ice," said Captain Rich Frankson. "In light of last weekend's incidents, the ice is obviously unsafe."

Frankson said, "Overall, the whole weekend was quiet. But, after 7 p.m. on Sunday, we had five calls."

ACHS team takes academic sectionals

The Antioch Community High School Academic Team has won the sectionals for a third year in a row, and is now headed to St. Charles to compete with other state winners. The team is headed there on Saturday with high hopes.

"It is the third year in a row we have won our section," said Tom Blasius. "We're really proud."

The team faced off against Stevenson, Libertyville, Mundelein, and Lake Forest high schools, to name a few. "We'll be facing the best schools, the winners of all the sectionals," said Blasius of the upcoming competition.

Total team membership is approximately 25 students, with the varsity team of 15 students. The competition includes questions in math, literature, science, sports, arts, and current events.

Teams of five students must answer questions as quickly as they can. While coaches select the students to participate on the team and all members are involved, there are three basic starters while the other students take turns. "Everybody gets a chance," said Blasius.

No calculators are allowed, and students must perform calculations either with pencil and paper or in their heads. Saturday's competition will be single elimination with 16 teams competing. If ACHS is successful the team will play four other teams.

When asked in which competition team members were most proud of their performance, all agreed beating Stevenson High School was particularly memorable.

ACHS newspaper receives large donation

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Antioch Community High School newspaper, the Tom-Tom, received a large donation from the Antioch Rotary Club. The newspaper was given $5,000 to purchase a new printer.

"As you know, we are big supporters of the high school," said Ted Axton, Rotary member, as he introduced Tom-Tom representatives Editor-in-Chief Kelly Fassbinder and faculty advisor, Mike Gordy. "This year we were able to help support the Tom-Tom by donating $5,000 for a printer."

Fassbinder spoke first to the group, telling club members about the new printer. "The printer itself allows us to advance," said Fassbinder. According to Fassbinder, the new printer will help keep the already award winning newspaper competitive.

The Tom-Tom is nationally rated and won the George Gallup award. "It put us in the top 1 percent of schools our size," explained Gordy.

Besides winning awards, the paper is advertising dependent.

This means instead of being supported by tax dollars, the costs of its 4,000 plus circulation is covered by advertising sales.

"Most high school papers are not advertisement dependent," Gordy told the Rotarians. "The paper pays for all equipment, printing, bills and software. It's a business. The kids are running a business."

Gordy believes the hard work of the students is responsible for the paper's success. "A lot of people don't realize what it takes for the kids to do what they do."

Groups plan unit school forums

The Alliance for Better Government is sponsoring a forum on Thursday, March 23 at 7 p.m. featuring speakers from Antioch Community High School, District 34, and proponents of the Lake Villa unit district. The forum will be held at the Antioch Public Library on Main Street and the public is encouraged to attend.

"Because of the unanswered questions regarding this issue, we feel it is important to help provide information as we can," said Alliance Secretary Carole Jonites. "People need to have all the facts before they can make a voting decision."

Another forum on the issue will be held on Monday, March 20 at 7:30 p.m. at Oakland School. This forum is sponsored by the four parent-teacher organizations in Antioch's District 34. At this time, it is not known which representatives will be speaking at either forum.

Again, the public is encouraged to attend either or both of the forums.

Waterway Agency asks for support in dams, authority

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

For the past few weeks, representatives from the Fox Waterway Agency have been making visits to village boards in hopes of gaining support.

On Monday night, chairman of the Agency, Dr. William Dam and Director Ron Baker set out to gain nods in favor of two issues from the villages of Fox Lake and Lindenhurst.

Last week, the Village of Island Lake said "yes" to a resolution proposing Fox River Flood Gates at the McHenry and Algonquin Dams. Island Lake also agreed to send a letter supporting a House bill sponsored by State Representative Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) which would allow the Waterway Agency to be in control of maintaining and creating ordinances on the Fox River and the Chain O' Lakes.

After a presentation by Dr. Dam at the Fox Lake meeting, in which he pinpointed various projects done on the waterways throughout the past year, he asked the board in turn to support the flood gate issue and the house bill.

The chairman explained that the bill proposed by Rep. Churchill has already passed the legislative House, but due to modification it was brought back from the Senate to the House again.

"I don't think the village wants to be the 'deep pockets,'" if the Agency isn't able to take care of the waterways, said Dam. He also explained that sometimes villages will have conflicting ordinances about one water site. That wouldn't happen if the Agency has authority over of the areas.

Regarding the resolution for flood gates, a sample letter explained that for years residents have been subject to flood damage from the river and the Chain.

"A recently completed Chicago District Corps of Engineer's report indicates significant reductions in flooding can occur from modifications to the Algonquin and McHenry lock and dams by the addition of flood gates," states the letter.

Construction of the gates is figured to be less than $2 million, and the State of Illinois has agreed to be the local sponsor of the project and pay 25 percent of the costs.

Fox Lake Trustee Darwin Follman suggested the board table the idea and take more time to review the project and the legislative bill.

After the Fox Lake meeting, Baker and Dam headed off for the Lindenhurst village board meeting, where their plans were approved unanimously.

It's now on to the villages of Antioch and Holiday Hills next Monday evening where the Agency will ask for support, and then later the City of McHenry will be targeted.

The villages of Algonquin and Lake Barrington are not in favor of the resolution, said Dam.

Julie Jacobson from the Waterway Agency said the majority of feedback she's received shows a large number of supporting towns backing the issues.

Township approves budgets

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The budgeting process for Antioch Township is once again complete. After the public hearings last Monday, the Township Board approved both the highway and township budgets.

However, while there was no dissension among board members, two residents left the hearings in frustration. The two men were angry because no extra copies of the budget or the financial reports were available to the public.

"I came here to learn something," said the resident. "How can we know what you are doing if we don't have a copy? I just want to know what is going on."

Township officials cited the concern the budget is only tentative until approved. They said the problem is if there are substantive changes in the budget, the citizens would have an incorrect copy.

While it was not clear exactly what the men hoped to achieve by having copies of the budget, they seemed to be angry about the status of roads within a subdivision. The men walked out in the middle of the meeting and refused to give their names.

The total budget for the Antioch Township Road District is $1,056,008. The board approved $427,020 for the general road fund, $41,600 for the insurance fund, $20,000 for IMRF, $32,000 for the social security fund, $435,500 for the permanent road fund, $19,888 for construction or repair of bridges at joint expense of County Fund, and $80,000 for the equipment and building fund.

The board also approved the Antioch Township budget of $879,240. This includes $465,500 for the general town fund, $16,500 for the insurance fund, $27,000 for the social security fund, $44,240 for IMRF, and $323,000 for the general assistance fund.

Antioch Township Clerk Dick Harlan emphasized, "These are not audited numbers. Although, they shouldn't be too far off. But, they could change."

Living with septic system

Tony Smithson of the Lake County Environmental Health Division will be discussing septic system maintenance at the next meeting of the United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAAU).

Smithson will offer tips on how homeowners can extend the life of their septic fields. Also, Smithson will explain the County regulations regarding septic fields and answer questions.

The meeting will be held at St. Stephen's Church in Antioch on March 21, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend. For more information call 395-7371.

For information, call the college financial aid office at 223-3610.

Dist. 34 considers site-based management

A new way of doing things may become a reality in the Antioch elementary schools, if the teachers, support staff and school board work together to arrive at decisions that are crucial to the education of the students. Dr. Daniel Burke, Antioch Dist. 34 superintendent, has been going around to the various schools in the district discussing a concept that he is very familiar with: Site-Based Management.

Site-Based Management, also called Shared Decision Making or Teacher Empowerment, is a belief system that is approximately 10 years old in the education field. The main belief is that the best decisions to be made are by those most critically affected. The teachers and support staff have quality information that is critical to the decision making process.

Currently an autocratic system exists within the school board, whereby the board makes the decisions and that information is filtered down to the teachers and staff after the fact. In Site-Based Management, suggestions, innovations and ideas have to come from those closest to the students. These would then be filtered up to the board through a mechanism, such as a regularly held forum, where the teachers can give their ideas in a non-threatening atmosphere. This tends to "level the playing field" considerably from the standpoint of those involved.

At the level of the teachers and staff, research shows that morale and job satisfaction is high when this concept is up and working well. The teachers feel more empowered and motivated, thus having a positive influence on their working environment. The downside would be that this concept would require more time and energy on the part of the teachers as more people have input, and that would take more meetings and some ideas may take too long to research or even implement.

At the school board level, there is no abdication of authority, just a more thorough process by which a rule or decision is made. The board still has state laws which govern them, meaning there are some things that only a board can decide, such as tax levy decisions, etc. And situations where emergency care is deemed necessary at that instant, common sense and board regulations prevail. But those ideas relevant to improvement, change of routine, or even school holidays can, and will, be considered as important. All thoughts will be reviewed on the basis of whether the timing is right, there is a demand/supply need, and if financially it can be done.

The theories are there but the principles of the concept are not as "cut and dried." There is no ready-made model to work from. This is not familiar territory for many educators that have been in the field for some years. For the Site-Based Management concept to work, participation needs to be complete, at least at one's own school building. In Dist. 34, all buildings will not be required to participate. If only one building expresses interest, then that school can go ahead. And even if all buildings were to participate, the concept could take years to successfully implement. If there is a total lack of interest on the part of the teachers and support staff, the idea will not be abandoned. It will be reassessed and approached at a later date.

At this point, the awareness of the concept is out there. If the interest is strong, the possibility of investigating and maybe training at a district that has this concept up and working well is highly likely. There are many schools in the area that have this currently at work. Several schools in Cook County, such as Glenview, have been working at this for some time. The Chicago Public School system has adopted a form of this in their Parent Councils. There are many variations of this concept at work and what needs to be done for the Antioch Dist. 34 students should start with those who are closest to the students while they are there. How successfully it could work depends on the input from all those involved. The "been there, done that, I know it works" experience and optimism of Burke should encourage enthusiasm and participation at the level where it is needed the most.

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH Property damage

An Antioch man, 39, was arrested and charged with criminal damage to property on March 13. Damage was done to a screen door and a shower stall was pulled from the moorings. Estimated damages are $175. Anna requested psychiatric treatment was taken to St. Therese Hospital.

Possession of marijuana

David J. Baranov, 22, of Antioch was arrested and charged with possession of cannabis on March 13 when he was stopped by police for spinning his tires. Police found a plastic bag under the drivers seat which contained a green leafy substance. Baranov was charged with possession and illegal squealing of tires. He was released on bond.

Trespass

A 39-year-old Antioch man was arrested and charged with criminal trespass to property on March 11. Anna had been told not to return to Squire Restaurant, but had returned on Saturday. According to the police report, Anna told police he had been "alive during the Egyptian period and that he could give immortality to people." Anna refused medical treatment and was released on bond.

Agency assist

Dale R. Susan, 30, of Richton Park, was arrested on domestic violence and weapons charges on March 11 after Antioch Police Department officers assisted Lake County Sheriffs. The incident occurred after a verbal argument escalated and Dale allegedly grabbed two butcher knives and threatened to kill himself. He was sprayed with OC spray and subdued. He was transported to Lake County Jail.

Unwanted contact

A Lindenhurst teen was arrested after a complaint was made by a female ACHS student on March 10. The young woman told officers the teen grabbed her and made unwanted sexual advances at her. The young man was charged with battery of an insulting nature, and disorderly conduct. He was released on bond and ordered not to have further contact with the girl.

DUI

Terrance J. Sramek, 40, of Antioch, was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol on March 10. Sramek refused a breathalyzer test and was released on bond.

William B. Richter, 35, of Salem, Wisconsin, was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol on March 10. Richter tested a .21 on the breathalyzer test. He was released on bond.

Robert E. Kriens, 58, of Antioch, was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol on March 12. Kriens tested a .18 on the breathalyzer test. He was released on bond.

LINDENHURST

Caught in the act

Richard Nickel, 17, 1901 Burr Oak, Lindenhurst and Michael Myers, 2312 Sand Lake, Lindenhurst on March 8, were arrested for criminal trespass. Police were called to the garage on the 400 block of Sand Lake Road. When they arrived they found Nickel and Myers in a car and were able to arrest both.

Caught drinking and driving

Douglas Mandel, 43, 5153 Coventry, Gurnee, on March 12, was arrested for driving under the influence. He was stopped by police for erratic driving. He had a blood alcohol reading of .14.

Unit forum leaves unanswered issues

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

An informational session about the proposed Lake Villa unit school district yielded more about what could happen to the Millburn School District if the unit is approved by voters.

The session was sponsored by the Millburn School Board. Lake County Superintendent Edward Gonwa, along with Millburn School Board President Gene Gracey were on hand to answer questions regarding the unit district proposal.

Gracey said he wasn't going to answer speculative questions which only the future unit district board could decide.

The unit would take 340 or 87 percent of the current Millburn School. If the unit is approved, then there would be only 80 students remaining. These students could stay at Millburn if the unit decided to rent the facility from Millburn Board.

Gracey said if the unit fails, the Millburn Board would have to ask for a building bond of $800,000 to accommodate growth in the district. The bond would be at no additional cost to taxpayers because it could be refinanced and two years would be added to the current building bond. However, an education fund increase would be needed in the near future to pay for additional staff.

Gracey couldn't say how long a six to 10 classroom expansion could house the incoming students. If this building is expanded, the school would have to look for a new school site for a second campus.

"We are going to have to have an education fund increase," Gracey said. "I don't know when. There is no way I can make a date and be credible."

According to the Millburn district, in the near term, even if Millburn asked for a building bond and Antioch High School asked for a building bond similar to the one it asked for in 1991, the tax rate would go up $150 for a home valued at $150,000.

In comparison, the Unit District would cost $534 or more to Millburn residents, according to Millburn's informational packet.

The unit district proposal calls for a K-12 school district throughout most of Lake Villa Township. It would take in a majority of Millburn School District, 55 percent of Antioch High School and 27 percent of Grayslake High School students. It would also take about 22 percent of Antioch Elementary District and 4 percent of Grant High School District students.

Gonwa said he feel his role is as an information source.

"My position is to help provide information and help people decide on this issue," Gonwa said.

He said a crucial issue is the division of assets. The unit will take a portion of each district's assets.

Gonwa said the unit and affected districts have a good idea of the assets and he is hopeful both sides could come to an agreement in the required 30 days. He said the division is not set in stone and is negotiable and praised the unit proponents for providing "creative proposals" on the division of assets.

On April 4, all Millburn residents will be asked if they want a unit district. Those living within unit district boundaries will vote on a $39.5 million building bond to finance a new high school and elementary school. Voters will also have to select a school board.

Voters living east of Rte. 45 will continue to reside in the Warren High School District, regardless of the vote. If the unit fails, it can't be brought back for two years unless substantial changes are made.

Some of the particulars, the division of assets, the future of Millburn School can only be determined by negotiations between Millburn and the unit board if the unit is approved.

CORRECTION

District 34 has not considered tuitioning students to Oakland School if the Lake Villa unit district is adopted as was reported last week. The school board has considered other options to house the students within the existing buildings in the district.

Life has changed

Yes, I've swallowed the baited hook! I never thought writing this column could be such a challenge. Here it is my second week, and it seems every situation I confront could become a possible blurb in this column. Before this came along, things came up, events passed by and life went on.

Now I think of everything in inches and how many it will take to fully explain an incident. I'm only allowed so many "inches" for my column, and if I go over my allotted space, those big scissors at Lakeland go snip, snip, and some very valuable material may end up on the editing room floor. So I have to choose my words carefully, be as precise as I can in the smallest amount of space.

So my first major purchase after accepting this writing position was a thesaurus. Wow, does that make for interesting reading. I realize it will never make the best seller list but, boy, was I fascinated. Do you know how many different ways you can say "hello"? Do you really care?

Anyway, that's enough of this trivia—let's get down the meat and potatoes of the column.

AARP needs officers

Okay all you retired folks, take note of the following and get involved. After 30 years in Antioch, the AARP Chapter may be forced to disband the organization and close its doors. Difficulty in finding candidates to fill offices for the ensuing year has become a serious problem.

The nominating committee has been unable to recruit members for the offices of president, vice president, secretary and treasurer for 1995-96. The well over 100 members of the Chapter enjoy the camaraderie, the programs, the lunches and all the social events, but they are not interested in making all this possible. It is only a handful of members who volunteer and "get involved" in the actual operation of the Chapter. Many of the present officers have served for a number of years—it's time for them to sit back and enjoy some of the results of their labors over these many years.

A plea was issued by President Horsch at the Feb. 28 meeting to please become involved, take an office and save the Chapter from extinction. The Antioch AARP is one of Lake Co.'s busiest chapters and has become known for its many activities. It is hoped that members will respond to their president's request and the Chapter will be able to celebrate its 30th birthday this year with a full slate of new officers.

Parents of the year

Leslie Bennett finished her college education in interior design and is now enjoying her internship at Atlanta Interior Design Firm. Leslie has had a pen pal from England since she was in the fourth grade at Grass Lake School. As a graduation gift, her mom and dad, Celia and Victor Bennett of Oxford, Ga., gave her a trip to London, where she will visit her longtime pen pal Emma.

What a great present! A car would have been nice, but a trip to England—wow! Hey Celia and Victor, want to adopt a daughter? I never went to college, but I did graduate from cosmetology school and I love to travel. I'll even fly coach!

My warmest congratulations to Leslie, and send me a postcard from London.

Boat safety class

Calling all boaters. Let's face it, for any of us that live on the Chain of Lakes, summer weekends out on the water can be scary. Natives and tourists alike could use a little education in boating etiquette.

With that thought in mind, the village of Antioch is sponsoring a boating safety class. It will cover all the basics of boating safety and Illinois laws.

The one-day class will be held March 18. The registration fee is $10-$20, which includes the books—you have to provide the common sense. To register, stop in or call the village hall at 395-2160. And for all you young adults 12 through 17, this class is mandatory if you want to drive a boat without adult supervision.

Has she no shame?

Miss Liz recently came to work at Camp Crayon sporting a new hairdo. When asked by the little ones if she got a haircut, Miss Liz seized the moment to have some fun with those naive little minds.

She calmly explained that, "No, she did not get a haircut." She proceeded to tell them that she just happened to be standing outside, minding her own business, when a big gust of wind came up and blew off some of her hair.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

LYNN

Those little munchkins took it as gospel. Later that day, while driving home from Camp, Karessa Kollé's mom Susie commented on Miss Liz' new haircut. Karessa very politely corrected her mother with the true saga of the gusting wind.

What's a mother to say to a story such as that? Do you tell your child their teacher has flipped her lid, which will only conjure up more absurd images, or do you just let it pass and hope the child isn't traumatized every time they walk outside on a windy day?

I can just see all those tiny hands clutching their heads, holding onto their hats the next time they walk outside and it's windy. Of course, now that I think about it, maybe Miss Liz did all of us a favor. Maybe now those adamant little buggers will keep their hats on the rest of the winter like us moms are always harping about!

Now the fun begins

Harry and Sue Lengenvien added a new branch to their family tree when their son, Michael, married Lucinda on Feb. 10. They were wed at St. Peter's Church in Antioch, and afterwards celebrated with 85 of their friends and relatives at the Tower Room.

The newlyweds honeymooned in lovely, warm Las Vegas (oh, I bet that was hard to take in February), and they are now taking up residence in Lake Villa.

Ah, yes, and now that the wedding is over and the honeymoon is history, their lives will settle down to a normal married couple's life with all those mundane household chores and in-laws to get used to. Of course, let us not forget all the real fun things left to do like writing all those dreaded thank-you notes!

Congratulations, and good luck.

It's over

Well, week two has come and gone and I am amazed at the wealth of material that has been passed my way. I have had some calls from several well-wishers and it seems no matter where I go, Piggly Wiggly, church, even Burger King, people have been encouraging me along. Thanks!

I must say, though, my biggest fan is the old retired "Lizard" herself. She keeps that light on my answering machine blinking. If you have tried to call and got the busy signal, it's probably just "The Lizard" dropping me another tidbit from one of her reliable sources.

I hope to present you all with the humorous side of everyday situations, but bear with me here until I get my feet wet and feel my way along this new road. With all the trouble-filled stories occupying the pages of our newspapers, it might be nice to pick up the paper and have a little chuckle now and then. I'm not asking for much, and in return I ask that you don't expect gut-wrenching laughter every week. Some days the creative juices just don't flow. But you, the folks who live in Antioch, have to provide me with some material to work with or it's "cutesy" Pringle story time. So keep those tidbits coming my way. I love the feedback.

And, so goes another "Jingle From Pringle"—don't forget to call 395-6364.

Shop Antioch Plan ahead for spring

One day soon we will all wake up to the sun shining, birds singing, the grass growing and a warm breeze in the air. It might sound hard to believe right now, but already March is halfway gone and winter is on its way out. People are already looking ahead to the warm weather and planning how to enjoy it.

In Antioch, merchants are busy gearing up for spring. Last minute orders are being placed, merchandise is being delivered daily and unpacking is underway, special promotions are being planned, and spring is beginning to bloom in Antioch.

While driving through downtown, you'll enjoy the fresh spring approach Antioch has taken with its new spring banner program. You'll find the banners proudly displayed on Main, Lake, Orchard and through various parking areas. Experience Antioch—there's a lot to enjoy.

Make the most of the sun with beautiful crystal prisms from Austria from J.J. Blinks. When the sun catches these prisms, they create an almost magical rainbow of colors. Available in lots of shapes and sizes, they can add sparkle to any room.

If you're looking ahead to a new season and tired of wearing the same uniform to work day after day, perhaps it's time to stop by Accent Uniforms, located on Lake St., to treat yourself to an updated fashion. Lois has provided Antioch with 13 years of service, offering uniforms for food and health care professionals. If size is a concern, stop by and discover the extended size ranges available. Comfortable shoes are always in stock and a must for those of us on our feet all day long.

Innovative Screen Printing and T-shirt Emporium is walking on the wild side. Nature abounds inside of Innovative. Keep a careful look out for wolves and other creatures of nature that you'll find lurking inside the cleverly decorated shop. T-shirts will still be plentiful and nature's creatures are displayed throughout the store.

With the arrival of spring, now is the perfect time to "spring clean" those closets. Be tough with yourself and remove those outfits that you haven't worn for the past five years (or 10 years, whatever the case may be). It's time to step out of the past and into the future. Help revitalize your wardrobe by adding accessories to jazz up a favorite outfit from last year and add a few pieces to coordinate along with your existing wardrobe to help create new outfits by mixing new and old together.

Check out spring accessories at the Clothes Connection and dress up your current wardrobe or just add a touch of something new to brighten your look. While you're there, browse through the new spring fashions and enjoy the new looks and colors of 1995.

If you've done a wonderful job cleaning out that closet and found you've gutted it out, don't worry. This is the perfect time to take advantage of Four Squires' coupon sale, which is currently underway. Grab your coupons and enjoy the savings on their fine lines of spring apparel, footwear and accessories for men and women. The sale only lasts till April 1, so hurry in now.

Don't forget, while you're planning ahead to spring, Antioch merchants are gearing up to offer you the best of the season. You'll find fun fashions for kids at Choosey Child and menswear that's on the cutting edge of fashion and comfort at BJ's Menswear. Or if spring cleaning means brightening up your home after a long winter, add some new crafts from the Tulip Patch or Kathy's Cottage. If quilting is your "dream," stop by Quilter's Dream and check out their list of classes available for spring. Don't forget to visit Patricia's Amish Furniture for this season's choices of accessories and furnishings.

Editor's note: Shop Antioch is a weekly newsletter showcasing Antioch's merchants and retailers. Prepared and written by Barbara Porch of Choosey Child.

ENGAGEMENT

Frankson-Vandrush

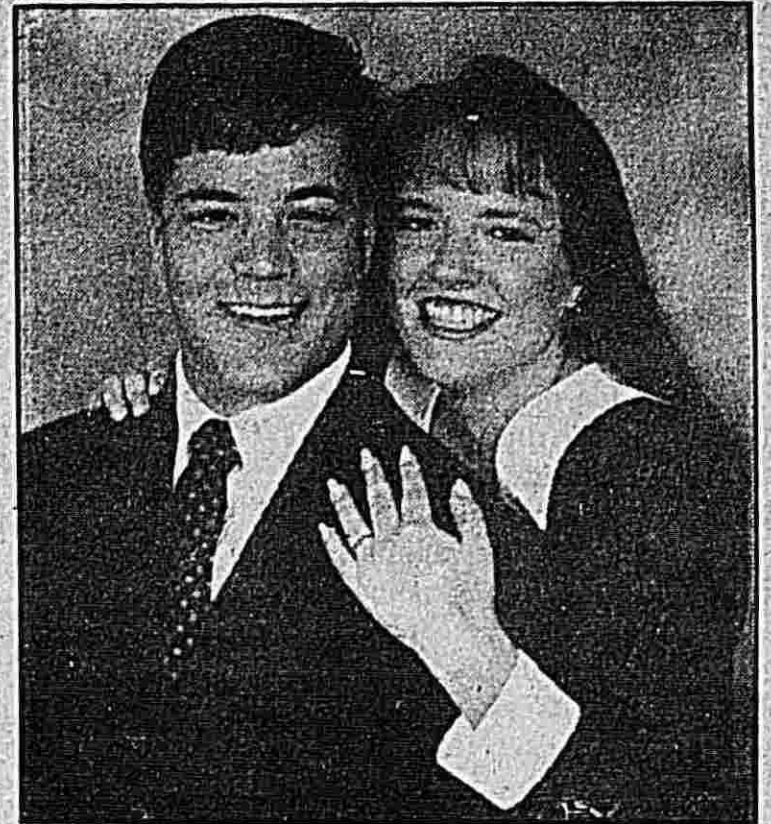

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Vandrush of Antioch announce the engagement of their daughter, Jennifer Lee, to Samuel Lee Frankson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Frankson of Antioch.

The ceremony will be performed by Fr. Lawrence Hanley of St. Peter's Catholic Church in Antioch on May 20.

The bride-to-be is a 1991 graduate of Antioch Community High School and will be a 1995 graduate of Illinois State University with a bachelor of science degree in sociology.

The groom-to-be is a 1990 graduate of Antioch Community High School and a 1994 graduate of Southern Illinois University and has a bachelor of science degree in fire science management. He is employed as an assistant director for Peppermint Stick Preschool in Antioch. He also is a firefighter for the Antioch Fire Department.

The couple plans to settle in Antioch.

Park Happenings Park department holds craft classes

Craft workshops

Classes meet on Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. Sign up for the Peter Cottontail Workshop that meets Wednesday, March 29, or the Mother's Day Flower Basket Workshop that meets on Wednesday, April 5. Or create a decorated picture frame for dad in a Father's Day Picture Frame Workshop that meets on Wednesday, May 17. All materials are included, and the cost is $35-$45.

The parks department is also looking for people interested in the Fun With a Hot Glue Gun class. Create beautiful hairpieces, jewelry and covered photo albums. The class runs for four Wednesdays beginning April 12 and continuing until May 10. Cost is $20-$30. Sign up early.

Beginner's painting class

A beginner's painting class for persons 13 years and over will begin the first week of May and run for eight weeks, one evening per week for two hours. Cost is $90-$100 and includes all materials. Call to register.

Line dancing

The first line dancing class was such a success that a new one is being formed. At this time, an instructor is needed, so if you've got what it takes, or know someone who does, tell them to call the park district office.

Spring break

Limited space is available in the soccer camp and in the cartooning camp that will be held over spring break (last week of March).

Boys' basketball

A new basketball league is being started for boys 13 through 17 years old. The league runs through May. All participants will receive a jersey for this practice/scrimmage type play that meets in Emmons Grade School gym. Cost for the league is $25 per participant.

Boating safety class

In cooperation with the Ill. Dept. of Conservation, the Village of Antioch will sponsor a boating safety class on March 18. A certificate will be issued by the IDOC to persons who successfully complete this course. This is mandatory for persons 12 through 17 who want to operate a power boat without supervision. Books and instruction are included in the registration fee.

Young Rembrandts

The fourth session of the Young Rembrandts' creative drawing program will begin on April 7.

St. Peter students learn about newspaper business

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Celebrating National Newspapers in Education Week, students from St. Peter School in Antioch learned all about newspapers last week. Lakeland Newspaper staff visited Jane Willems fourth grade class at the school.

Students learned how editors select stories for the front page, how to use the index, the location of each section, and how the public interacts with newspapers. Specifically, students looked at the editorial pages, Lip Service, sports, and classified advertisements. Students also learned about the advertising aspect of newspapers.

After a question and answer period, students then created their own classified advertisements. The class was allowed to be as creative as they wished, limited only by one rule. Students were not allowed to create an advertisement which involved the sale of human beings.

"I can't sell my sister?" a disappointed student joked.

Here are some of the advertisements the children came up:

Books for sale:

Selling school books: math, English, and spelling. I'll put in desk. Call 333-3333. $9.99 (Bryan B. Jr.)

ACHS adjusts schedule

Antioch Community High School will be giving a state-required assessment to all sophomore and junior students on March 20, 21 and 22. Sophomores will be assessed in the areas of reading, writing and math, while juniors will be assessed in the areas of social studies and science. The results of these tests, a part of the Ill. Goal Assessment Program (IGAP), show how well the Antioch high school is doing in meeting the state goals for learning. Results will be reported on report cards in October. All sophomore and junior students are required to take IGAP tests.

Monday, March 20—Sophomores and juniors must arrive by 7:45 a.m. Freshmen and seniors will begin classes at 9:45 a.m. Buses for sophomores and juniors will run as per the normal morning schedule. Buses for freshmen and seniors will run approximately two hours later than the first run. The remaining bell schedule (9:45 a.m. to 3:05 p.m.) will include periods 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8.

Tuesday, March 21—Sophomores and juniors must arrive by 7:45 a.m. Freshmen and seniors will begin classes at 9:45 a.m. Buses for sophomores and juniors will run as per the normal morning schedule. Buses for freshmen and seniors will run approximately two hours later than the first run. The remaining bell schedule (9:45 a.m. to 3:05 p.m.) will include periods 3, 4, 5, 6, 2, 1.

Wednesday, March 22—All sophomores must arrive by 7:45 a.m. Any junior who missed tests Monday or Tuesday must make up them up on Wednesday. Freshmen, juniors and seniors will begin classes at 9:45 a.m. Buses for sophomores will run as per the normal morning schedule. Buses for all other students will run approximately two hours later than the first run. The remaining bell schedule (9:45 a.m. to 3:05 p.m.) will include periods 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8.

Seek out the truth

Editor:

I am constantly amazed when I read articles in the Antioch News-Reporter regarding school issues. So many people are misinformed and do not take the time to search for the truth.

In Lipservice someone accused the ACHS administrators of distorting the facts regarding the unit district to save their own jobs. The truth is that the present superintendents at ACHS are only temporary. They will no longer be with the district after July 1995.

Then there is another attack made against the Millburn school board. This attack accuses them of scare tactics because they notified their teachers they may not have jobs next year. Any school board member knows that the law requires 60 days notice to tenured teachers who may not be rehired by the district next year. Like it or not, this notice was necessary in order to leave all options open to Millburn's school board. Until the unit questions are answered, they are facing a situation full of unknowns.

And finally, there is an article that states that the candidates for the unit school board will sign a statement saying taxes will not increase for the division of assets, should the unit district pass. What authority do they have to commit to this before they are elected? Aren't the taxpayers in the newly formed district going to want (and aren't they entitled) to get every dollar due to them in a division of assets? Until these candidates are sworn in as board members they have absolutely no authority to make any decisions regarding the unit district.

I urge all voters to seek out the truth before voting.

Citizens group plans meeting on proposed Yorkhouse Rd. extension

Citizens for a Better County will hold an informational meeting to discuss issues relating to the proposed extension of Yorkhouse Rd.

The meeting is open to Antioch residents and members of the Antioch Village Board of Trustees. The meeting will be held Tuesday, March 21, 7 p.m. at the Antioch Public Library, 757 Main St.

The proposed extension of Yorkhouse Rd. would bisect a 550-acre forest preserve that is also home to the acclaimed Des Plaines River Wetlands Demonstration Project. The Lake Co. Div. of Transportation has estimated that the 3/4-mile extension would cost approximately $12 million.

Lake Co. taxpayers have already helped pay $8 million for the wetlands demonstration project and purchased the land for the existing forest preserve that the road would bisect. It is likely that Lake Co. residents will pay the majority of the $12 million for this proposed road extension.

Citizens for a Better County is a community awareness group concerned with reasonable land use in northern Lake Co. and equal representation for taxpayers and developers. For more information about this meeting or the proposed extension of Yorkhouse Rd., call 1-800-667-6239.

Time for change

Editor:

The time for a change has come. Voting "yes" on April 4 for the proposed unit school in Lake Villa Twp. is a step in the right direction.

The increase in enrollment in Dist. 41 this year, along with the projected increase of approximately 175 new students in the next five years is mind-boggling. With the defeat of three attempts to build a high school and four attempts to increase the education rate in the Antioch area, apparently the only solution to this pressing problem is to create a unit district in Lake Villa Twp.

Let US educate the children of our community. Let the children in this community attend high school where they live. Building a high school and forming a unit district would certainly alleviate the overcrowding we are experiencing now. It is a shame that the "almighty" dollar will ultimately decide the fate of our children's future. Vote "yes" on April 4. A vote for the unit is a vote for the future.

LETTER TO THE Editor

False statement

On April 4, voters will decide whether to form a unit school district in the Lindenhurst/Lake Villa/Antioch area. The new district will incorporate all of Lake Villa school district and parts of several other districts, including the Millburn school district. A group of persons calling themselves the Committee of Ten assures the voters that "There are fair solutions which do not increase the taxes of the remaining residents." This, despite the fact that a new high school and at least one new grade school will have to be built, equipped and staffed.

Recently, an opinion sheet was distributed by the Lakes Area Unit Proponents titled "Unit Update." In that handout the following opinion was presented as fact: "Due to limited resources, Millburn School is less effective in preparing seventh and eighth graders for high school."

This statement is completely false for several reasons. First, current research supports the fact that student learning is improved when they receive individual attention and instruction. Small classes make this goal possible. The average class size for seventh and eighth grades at Millburn is 21 students.

Second, Millburn School's eighth graders are extremely well prepared for high school. Millburn School is similar to a small, elite, magnet school which emphasizes the basics of math, science and writing. Over 47 percent of the seventh and eighth grade students are currently in accelerated math classes. In the 1993-94 school year, Millburn's eighth graders attained the highest writing score of all the eighth grade classes in the Lindenhurst/Lake Villa community in state testing. They have also exceeded the state requirements in math, science, reading and social science each year. Thus, the students are developing a strong background in academics.

Third, Millburn has a strong computer literacy program. In the world of the future, computer expertise will be a necessary skill. Millburn has a state-of-the-art computer facility with regular computer classes for first through eighth grade.

Fourth, the faculty at Millburn is a distinguished one. In the past year, several teachers have spoken to national and state professional organizations on the subjects of writing, assessment and/or middle school. Schools from all over the Lake and Cook county areas have regularly requested that a member of the Millburn faculty present workshops and talks concerning the K-8 writing and learning portfolio programs. Over 60 percent of the middle school faculty have advanced degrees in their areas of expertise.

Finally, Millburn has developed a strong middle school program, with numerous interdisciplinary units. This program coincides with current thought and expectations for the quality education of adolescents.

Millburn prepares its students exceptionally well for any high school they might attend. They are readied academically, emotionally, physically and socially. The opinion expressed by this group, Lakes Area Unit Proponents, is not only false but totally misleading. If the group chooses to be untruthful in this area, we cannot help but wonder if much of their other information, particularly concerning the cost of this new district to the community, is also a lie.

Lake Villa pursues ball field agreement

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

Money and the wording of a 1991 intergovernmental agreement appear to be the only stumbling blocks in Lake Villa's negotiations with the Lake County Forest Preserve Board for baseball diamonds.

The Village of Lake Villa is attempting to secure a baseball facility from the Forest Preserve at the Sun Lake Forest Preserve. Last Friday members of the Forest Preserve and Lake Villa officials discussed working out an intergovernmental agreement which would allow Lake Villa Township Baseball League to a small portion of the preserve for three baseball fields.

"It's our contention that we wouldn't be charged as is provided in the previous intergovernmental agreement," Loffredo said.

Loffredo is referring to an agreement in 1991 between the Forest Preserve and the village which gave the Forest Preserve the site on the condition it allow a portion of the site for "ball fields."

The village has been negotiating for the baseball league for about a year now. The village and the league have worked out a site plan and have satisfied Forest Preserve Committees with the overall site plan.

The plan calls for three or four diamonds with a concession stand. The project would be phased over a six-year period.

The league would be responsible for operating and maintaining the facility. The league has over 700 kids in the program from throughout Lake Villa Township and parts of Antioch, Warren and Grant Townships.

A concern of the Forest Preserve is if the land is for sale or is to be leased. Both sides are negotiating a lease period.

There has not been a date for another meeting between the two sides.

Antioch to give away seedlings for Arbor Day

"Antioch has again been named Tree City USA," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. "It is the third time the village has received this national recognition," she added.

The tree City USA honor comes from the National Arbor Day Foundation, a non-profit educational organization dedicated to tree planting and environmental stewardship.

"Communities entering the nationwide program receive the Tree City USA designation upon recommendation by state foresters, who co-sponsor the program," said Bud Newton, co-chairman of the Antioch Arbor Day Committee.

"Communities qualify which meet the following standards: A city tree ordinance, a legal tree governing body, a comprehensive urban forestry program and observance of Arbor Day," he explained.

"Tree City USA communities receive a flag with the program's logo and a walnut-mounted plaque," said Al Little, environmental commission chairman and co-chairman of the Arbor Day Committee.

Winners also receive Tree City USA community signs. Maple leaf stickers will indicate additional qualifying years, he added.

Joe Huber, village arborist; Cheryl McCameron, parks director; and Rich "Ole" Olsen, Arbor Day committee member, will attend an awards ceremony at the Morton Arboretum.

"A community's tree-planting program is a living memorial to the citizens' concern for the quality of life," said Olsen.

"The trees we plant and care for today will cool our cities, fight pollution, conserve energy and give wildlife a home for years to come," he explained.

"I enjoy working with village officials and residents to help plant and preserve trees on village property," said Huber.

"An effective community forestry program is an ongoing process of renewal and improvement—a program of tree planting and care that continues through the years," he said.

A village-wide Arbor Day program will be observed on Saturday, April 22, when school children and volunteers will be planting trees in Williams Park, said Little.

Any Antioch resident who agrees to plant and care for them will be given five free evergreen seedlings, he added.

To reserve free seedlings, write to Al Little, Arbor Day Committee, P.O. Box 288, Antioch, IL 60002.

Power drops 5-4 game

The Lindenhurst Power had a disappointing 5-4 loss to the Lake Forest Diggers in their indoor soccer match at Sports Club 41 in Highland Park.

The Power took a quick lead just two minutes into the game when Jamie Wismer was able to put away a nice set-up pass coming from Sarah Richardson and Cara Robinson. Richardson then scored a goal of her own, making it 2-0 off a dead-ball play started by Nicci Estep, with the other assist going to Erin Hall.

The Power was unable to connect on other goal scoring opportunities, and let Lake Forest back into the game when they scored two quick goals in a three minute span just before the end of the first half to tie the score at 2-2.

Lindenhurst then struck again very quickly to start the second half with Wismer tallying her second goal with another assist going to Robinson. The Power increased the lead to 4-2 when Tracie Foster drilled home a direct kick from just outside the penalty box.

Linden Turbos win again

The Lindenhurst Under 12 Turbos beat Northbrook 4-3 at the 41 Sports Club in Highland Park.

The Turbos were playing short-handed with only eight players, giving all the boys plenty of time on the field.

The first goal was scored early in the first half with Danny Blagojevic picking up a rebound on a shot by Michael Wheeler. Jason Meyers played a strong game at goal tender, saving a number of shots on goal. Jeff Prorok scored the second goal with 30 seconds remaining in the first half on a pass from Justen "Juice" Kent.

The Turbos responded with a goal by Wheeler, with another assist by Kent. Northbrook scored again on a direct kick near the end of the second half.

The Turbos' winning goal was scored on an unassisted goal by Prorok in the final seconds of the game. The Turbos will play Lake Forest next week in Highland Park.

Winning tradition continues for Antioch wrestlers

Antioch grapplers wrapped up another successful year, and Coach Ted Sieckowski is already looking to next year.

The 12-6, 7-1 Antioch team finished third in conference, nipped by Warren for second in the conference meet. Since Sieckowski came aboard last year, he has only lost one conference dual meet, which came at the hands of nemesis Libertyville. Antioch and Libertyville annually compete for the conference title. Antioch secured the top spot last season, while Libertyville swiped the crown away this year.

"In the last two years, we've only lost one conference dual meet. We don't like that," Sieckowski said with a hint of revenge against Libertyville next year.

Antioch dominated the light weights with Luke and Justin Dyer anchoring in at 103 and 112 pounds. Luke finished 30-6, while older brother Justin finished 27-10.

"When you talk about true wrestling fans who follow the sport beyond their wrestling circle, the Dyer brothers know," Sieckowski said.

At 119 and 125 pounds, Matt Hlinak finished 24-15, while Steve Zalapi (30-7) was the only Antioch wrestler to compete downstate.

James Patterson and Jim Stevens also racked up banner years with 24-11 and 30-7 records at 135 and 145 pounds. Jason Triplett completed a respectable year with an 18-11 showing at 140 pounds.

"These kids worked harder than any other team that I have ever seen," Sieckowski said. "I hope that will set the standard from here on out."

Seniors Brian Maicke (26-16) and Jake Nathan (13-10) ended their wrestling careers at Antioch High at 171 pounds and at heavy-weight.

"To fill quality wrestlers at every weight level is a luxury, and we've come real close," Sieckowski said.

Antioch's banner season features many stars

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Antioch's boys basketball season may have come to a close and the players may be watching the college version of March Madness on the tube, but the Sequoits certainly have plenty to be proud of as they reflect on the 1994-95 season.

The season was marked by many highlights, beginning with the opening 3-0 sweep during the Thanksgiving Tournament. They battled and defeated up-and-coming Libertyville without their star center Eric Eckenstahler. They fought back the full 32 minutes to defeat archrival Warren at the buzzer. They hosted their first post-season game since the new seeding system was implemented. They downed No. 1 seed Mundelein for the regional title, and they advanced to the Waukegan semisectional game.

Pretty impressive for a program that had trouble mustering 10 wins in the previous two years. But this team was different, for it set high expectations, and it had a depth of talent unmatched by most teams. At times, Antioch may have had difficulty getting over the hump early in the season, but the Sequoits persevered to a respectable 15-13 record in the mighty North Suburban Conference.

"One of our strengths was our bench," Coach Jeff Dresser quickly points out. "We had nine or 10 guys contributing most of the time, even at the end of the season. They all contributed."

Most definitely, the biggest contributor was 6'7" forward-center Eckenstahler. His height and wing span enabled him to block 117 shots on the season, snatch 220 rebounds, and average 17.6 points a game. He excited both home and away fans with his monster dunks, and yet he exhibited the soft touch to nail the trey. The stats simply speak for themselves.

"Looking back, we're not going to have another player like him for a long time," Dresser said. "It's going to be sad to see him leave. Not only was he great on the floor, he's a great person off the floor. You just like being around him."

Capturing the regional crown only seemed fitting for the three-year varsity star who endured two tough seasons.

"Hopefully, the wait was worth it for him," Dresser said.

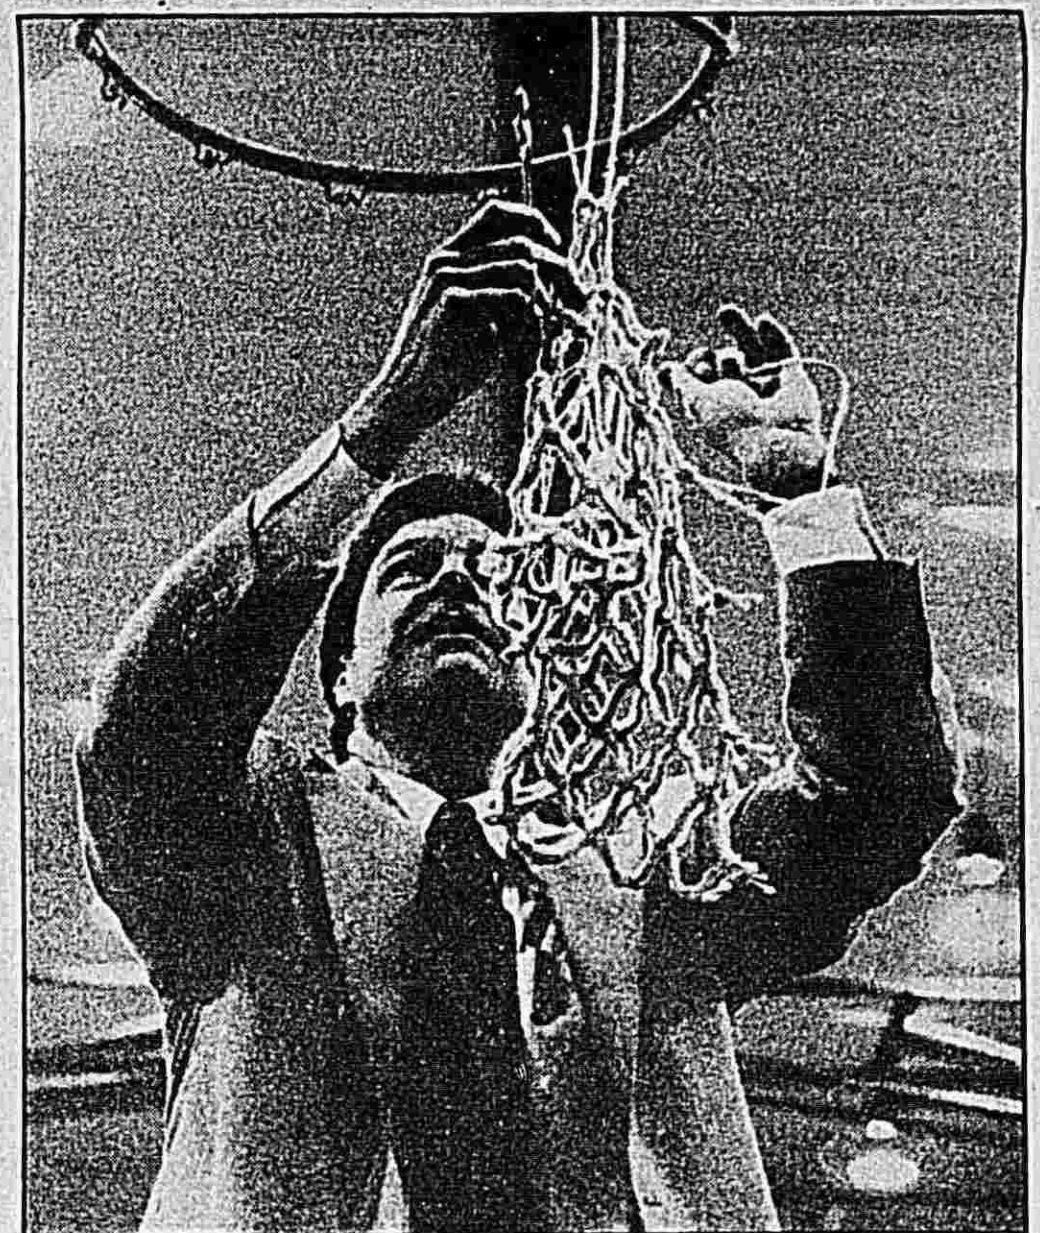

If there was a spark plug on the team, that had to be Eric Campbell, affectionately known by his players and fans as "Soup." After penetrating through some tough full-court pressures and difficult man-to-man defenses, Campbell was the offensive play maker as evidenced by his team-leading 114 assists.

"I think Eric has made a name for himself as being one of the better guards in our conference," Dresser said.

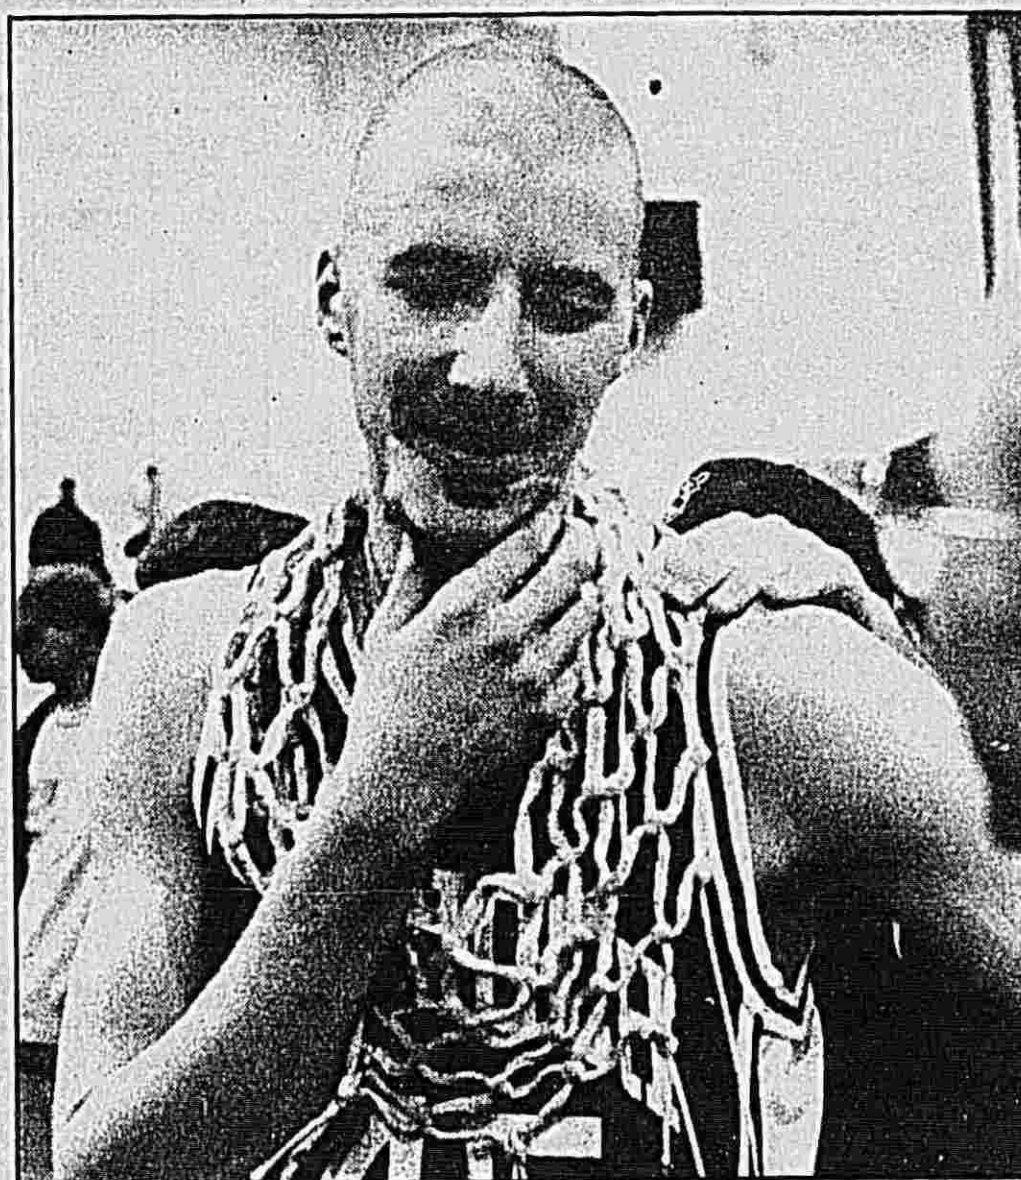

The 5'8" junior kept the ball low up the court and could drive to the hoop better than most people his size.

"He was our most improved player and second in votes for most valuable player. I think that speaks highly for him," Dresser pointed out.

SWEET SEQUOITS

Left, Eric Eckenstahler embraces Eric Campbell in a victory hug following the emotional regional victory over Mundelein. Both were key weapons in Antioch's success this season. Above, Kevin Geraghty drives pass Mundelein defenders. Geraghty's 21 points in the contest propelled Antioch to victory. Right, rising star Dan Riepe slowly progressed all season, earning a starting spot in the regional finale. From page A11

Then there was Kevin Geraghty. He proved to the league that he could be deadly when left alone beyond the three-point perimeter. He led the starters with a 33 percent accuracy from long range. But there's more:

"Offensively, he's got a lot of weapons. Not only could he shoot, he lays the ball up and drives the ball. He can have the whole package on offense," Dresser said.

His defensive quickness was another factor. Geraghty led the team with 34 steals.

A third guard who worked his way into the starting rotation after Christmas was Carmel transfer Michael Tschanz. His pesky defense and ball control solidified Antioch's three-guard attack.

"Mike understood his role," Dresser said. "He filled the role of a good ball handler and defensive player. When he scored, it was a plus."

Winning the honors for Mr. Intensity was scrapper Kevin Eckenstahler. Even against taller and bigger opponents, Eckenstahler owned the paint. He was second only to his brother Eric in rebounds (104) and third on the team in points (200).

"He came in and gave us some good spurts. He's one heck of a competitor," Dresser said.

Although his intensity and competitiveness got him into foul trouble (some joke that he enters a game with two fouls against him before the tip off), look for Eckenstahler to be a force next year.

As previously noted, Dresser did not lose anything when he looked to his bench for replacements or to rearrange the starting lineup.

Junior Dan Riepe quickly developed into a solid forward as the year progressed, which was rewarded with starting roles late in the year.

"His confidence went up and he responded well throughout the year," Dresser said. "He's strong, and he shoots well. We were very pleased with his progress this year."

Riepe is likely to replace Eric Eckenstahler next year.

After recovering from a broken hand early in the season, Dave Lawrence frequently gave the Eckenstahler brothers a breather late in the game. Built like a linebacker, Lawrence had no problem gaining position to dominate the boards.

"He just came in and gave us some really good sparks when we needed them. He always gave 100 percent. He was just a great kid to have around," Dresser said.

At the reserve guard posts, Adam Becker had the deadly three-point shot like Geraghty, while Justin McRae had the drive and penetration like Campbell. Dresser lost nothing offensively with these two replacements.

"He contributed a lot for us," Dresser said of Becker, who nearly mirrored Geraghty in the number of three-pointers made.

As for McRae, "His role was playing good defense and relieving some of the starters. He just loves to play hard-nosed basketball," Dresser said.

He added, "He's going to be a player to watch next year."

As Antioch overcame some of its early-season humps, more and more fans stacked the basketball bleachers, which Dresser duly noted as another key to this year's success.

"It was a very exciting time for the whole school and the whole community. We had some of the larger crowds in the whole conference both home and away," Dresser said with gratitude. "You have to have that sixth man in the stands."

With Kevin Eckenstahler and Riepe returning in the middle, and Campbell, Geraghty and McRae setting the stage at the guard posts, that sixth man in the stands just might want to take note of Antioch basketball next year.

Tradition

wrestling on and off on varsity since they were sophomores. Some have wrestled together since they were in grade school.

"These boys really showed the underclassmen what it takes to be champions and have fun with it," Sieckowski said. "Everyone of them were team leaders. They were always willing and wanting more."

Siewckowski is looking to fill those holes. In addition to Luke Dyer, Illinak, Patterson and Tim Cizanskas returning next year, Sieckowski is also eyeing Scott Grasser, Bob English, Tad Harper, Jeremy Helton, Dan and Bill

Werchek, and Justin Triplett to carry on the Antioch tradition in wrestling. Jason Breen (16-15) and Greg Laube (7-15) will also be returning varsity wrestlers.

Stay tuned.

Antioch student takes first and second at Academic Challenge

Steve Spronk

Fourteen Antioch Community High School students competed in the Academic Challenge competition at the College of Lake Co. Thirteen school sent their top students to compete in the annual event, sponsored by the Junior Engineering Technical Society (JETS) and the Ill. Society of Professional Engineers.

Antioch's team consisted of Kristin Beadle, Noelle Bernabe, Andy Ouper, Lauren Burke, Lindsay Edwards, Matt Fasana, Jason Mondelle, Jon Schultz, Megan Sosnowski, Steve Spronk, Heather Suchy, Dale Thiele, Lisa Murphy and Dustin Cogdill. They competed in areas that included mathematics, chemistry, English, physics, biology, engineering graphics and computer fundamentals.

Steve Spronk placed first in mathematics and second in physics, and earned the right to compete at Regionals this month at Northwestern Univ.

PUBLIC NOTICE ORDINANCE NO. 94-12-43 ORDINANCE AMENDING THE PARKING HOURS AT THE MUNICIPAL PARKING LOT ADJACENT TO 945 MAIN STREET FROM TWO (2) HOURS TO FOUR (4) HOURS

WHEREAS, the Village Board has approved a Resolution on September 7, 1993, to change the parking limit at the twenty (20) parking stalls located in the municipal parking lot adjacent to 945 Main Street, Antioch, Illinois, from two (2) hours to four (4) hours. That a copy of the Resolution changing the parking restrictions is attached as 'Exhibit 1'.

WHEREAS, it has been determined by the Antioch Police and the Village Attorney that the four hour parking restriction in the municipal parking lot adjacent to 945 Main Street is not enforceable without an ordinance to that effect. That the change in maximum time for parking at said lot from two (2) to four (4) hours took place on or about September, 1993.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ANTIOCH, LAKE COUNTY, ILLINOIS, as follows:

Section 1: The President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Antioch hereby find the facts as stated in the preamble hereof are true and correct and said findings are hereby made a part of this Ordinance.

Section 2: That Chapter 76, Section 76.005 shall be amended by adding the following Section 76.005 (D):

(D) The two (2) hour maximum restriction for parking in the municipal parking lot on the east side of Main Street, located adjacent to the businesses at 945 Main Street, Antioch, is hereby changed from two (2) hours to four (4) hours, effective as of September 7, 1993. Said parking restriction affects approximately twenty (20) parking stalls.

Any person who violates any provision of this Ordinance shall be fined pursuant to Chapter 76, Section 76.006 (C), Antioch Code of Ordinances.

Section 3: This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval, and publication in pamphlet form as provided by law and published in a newspaper.

PASSED AND APPROVED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Antioch, Lake County, Illinois, on this 19th day of December, 1994.

PUBLIC NOTICE ORDINANCE NO. 94-11-35 AN ORDINANCE AMENDING CHAPTER 94, SECTIONS 94.001 THROUGH 94.999, ANTIOCH CODE OF ORDINANCES RELATIVE TO PARKS

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Village Board of Trustees have determined through recommendations made by the Parks and Recreation Director and the Parks Commission, in conjunction with the Village Attorney, that the Village's Ordinance relative to regulating the use of the parks and properties owned or controlled by the village of Antioch is in need of updating.

WHEREAS, it is in the best interest of the Village to amend certain sections of Chapter 94, Sections 94.001 through 94.999, Antioch Code of Ordinances, which is attached to this Ordinance as 'Exhibit 1'.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ANTIOCH, LAKE COUNTY, ILLINOIS, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1: The President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Antioch hereby find the facts as stated in the preamble hereof are true and correct and said findings are hereby made a part of this Ordinance.

SECTION 2: Chapter 94, Section 94.002, entitled "Closing of Parks" shall be amended as follows:

Section 94.002 (B), Chapter 94, Section 94.002 (B), is hereby repealed.

The remaining portions of Chapter 94, Section 94.002 are hereby republished and are to remain in full force and effect, except as amended by this section.

SECTION 3: Chapter 94, Section 94.003, entitled "Animals" shall be amended in its entirety so that it henceforth shall read as follows:

No person shall lead or allow to be loose upon park premises any animal; except a dog or cat may be taken into the parks and properties adjacent thereto provided it is held by a suitable line, leash, chain or strap and that the owner of the dog or cat cleans up any animal waste, pursuant to Chapter 91, Section 91.008 (B), Antioch Code of Ordinances.

SECTION 4: Chapter 94, Section 94.005, entitled "Firearms and Fireworks", shall be amended to read as follows:

Weapons and Fireworks. No person shall carry any weapon, discharge fire arms, discharge or set off any fireworks as defined in Chapter 92, Sections 92.001 through 92.003. Weapons are hereinafter described as:

Bludgeon, black-jack, sling-shot, sand-bag, sand-bag, metal knuckles, throwing star, any knife, switchblade knife, dagger, dirk, billy, razor, stiletto, broken bottle or other piece of glass, stun gun, taser, tear gas gun projector, bomb or any object containing noxious liquid gas or substance, pistol, revolver, spring gun or any device or attachment of any kind designed, used or intended for use in silencing the report of any firearm, machine gun or other dangerous or deadly weapon or instrument of like character; other than an object containing a non-lethal noxious liquid gas or substance designed solely for personal defense carried by a person 18 years of age or older.

SECTION 5: Chapter 94, Section 94.007, entitled "Vehicles" shall be amended in its entirety, so that it henceforth shall read as follows:

No person shall drive or ride any vehicle, including automobiles, bicycles, motorcycles, mini-bikes, roller skates, skate boards or roller blades, anywhere in the parks and properties, except in the drives and roadways; nor shall any vehicle be allowed to stand or be parked, except in parking places provided for such purpose. It is strictly forbidden to roller skate, roller blade, skateboard or ride a bicycle on any tennis court or basketball courts within the parks.

SECTION 6: Chapter 94, Section 94.013, entitled "Repair of Vehicles", shall be amended by adding to the end of the Section the following language:

A. No vehicle shall be left parked longer than 24 hours. After said 24 hour period, said vehicle shall be towed at the owner's expense.

B. The remaining portions of Chapter 94, Section 94.013 are hereby republished and are to remain in full force and effect, except as amended by this Section.

SECTION 7: Chapter 94, Section 94.015, entitled "Offering Articles for Sale" shall be amended by deleting the word "thing" from the first line of that section and inserting in its place the word "services".

The remaining portions of Chapter 94, Section 94.015 are hereby republished and are to remain in full force and effect, except as amended by this Section.

SECTION 8: Chapter 94, Section 94.016, entitled "Advertisement", shall be amended in its entirety, so that henceforth it shall read as follows:

No person or organization shall display, post, or distribute any placard, handbill, pamphlet, circular, book or other writing containing commercial advertising matter on the Village's parks and properties without first obtaining permission of the Village Board.

SECTION 9: Chapter 94, Section 94.017, entitled "Fortune Telling" is hereby repealed.

SECTION 10: Chapter 94, Section 94.026, entitled "Use of Playground Equipment", shall be amended by deleting the word "adult" in the first line of that Section.

All other portions of Chapter 94, Section 94.026, shall remain in full force and effect, except as amended by this Section.

SECTION 11: Chapter 94, Section 94.029, entitled "Damage to Park Property", shall be amended by inserting the words "or surveillance cameras" after the word "lamps" in the second line of that Section.

All other portions of Chapter 94, Section 94.029, shall remain in full force and effect.

SECTION 12: Chapter 94, Section 94.035, entitled "Resisting or Interfering With Officer", shall be amended by inserting at the end of the Section the following language:

"A Village Official shall be defined as any employee or elected official of the Village."

All other portions of Chapter 94, Section 94.035, shall remain in full force and effect.

SECTION 13: There shall be added a new Section to Chapter 94, which shall henceforth be entitled "Chapter 94, Section 94.045", entitled "Parental Responsibility" and shall henceforth read as follows:

Any minor, as defined in Chapter 130, Section 130.050, Antioch Code of Ordinances, violating any provision of this Chapter 94 shall, upon a finding of guilty or plea of guilty before a court of competent jurisdiction, be fined not less than $50.00 nor more than $500.00 or the maximum amount allowed by state statute. In addition to being fined, said minor shall be held responsible for restitution, as defined in Chapter 94, Section 94.999.

The Village shall hold the parents or legal guardian of a minor responsible for said fine and restitution providing the provisions of Chapter 130, Section 130.050 through 130.051, Antioch Code of Ordinances are followed. Said Chapter 130, Section 130.051 is attached hereto as 'Exhibit 2'.

SECTION 14: Chapter 94, Section 94.999, entitled "Penalty" shall be amended and shall henceforth read as follows:

Any person violating any clause or provision of any section of this Ordinance, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined for each separate offense not less than $50.00 nor more than $500.00 or the maximum amount allowed by state statute plus restitution for any damages for a first offense, and not less than $100.00 nor more than $500.00 or the maximum amount allowed by state statute plus restitution for damages for a second or subsequent offense. A separate offense shall be deemed to have occurred on each day said violation occurs or continues.

It shall be the responsibility of the offender, or parent/guardian in the case of a juvenile (minor), to pay the restitution, plus costs and labor for damage done, providing in the case of the parent or guardian the provisions of Chapter 130, Sections 130.050 through 130.051 of the Antioch Code are complied with.

By juvenile or minor is meant any person under the age of 19 years and above the age of 11.

SECTION 15: All other Sections of Chapter 94 are hereby republished and shall remain in full force and effect, except as amended or repealed by this Ordinance.

SECTION 16: That this Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in pamphlet form as provided by law and publication in a newspaper in general circulation within the Village.

PASSED AND APPROVED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Antioch, Lake County, Illinois, on this 7th day of November, 1994.

Education chief Riley backs local school control

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

A war is on, but not one of bullets.

A philosophical battle is being waged which could determine the opportunities, if not minds, of future generations.

The view that education must remain important was emphasized in a Lake County visit by Richard Riley, secretary of education.

"I think it is extremely important to reach higher standards. That is what I am all about — to reach higher standards for all students and schools in the country. If you are going to reach high standards, learn more, you will have to have technology involved in a serious way," Riley said.

Riley saw business and education working together as seniors and third-grade students worked on computers and saw many other examples during a day-long stay in Waukegan.

He believes the federal government, through the Goals 2000 program, is in more of a position to help states and local schools rather than hinder them.

"We have seen dramatic change there. It used to be quite the thing. It came out of the 1960s. You would have federal programs with some funds and a long list of compliance mandates. Out of Goals 2,000, it is the framework to raise standards. And it is absolutely state and local control. To make that point, the application form is only four pages long," he said.

Illinois received $4 million and next year, if the money is not rescinded, this state could receive $16 million with 90 percent going to the local school districts. "It could be spent in a way the people in the school district want to spend it to reach these national goals," Riley said.

That could be in jeopardy with the Republican controlled Congress in an era of budget tightening.

Riley is concerned that with the short-term goals and the attempt to take the Department of Education duties and shift them, that could lead to a slipping back to mediocrity.

President William Clinton's budget terminates or consolidates 68 of the 204 education programs.

A $400 million appropriations bill has been cut in the House of Representatives. It is considered forward funding program.

Also, three-fourths of the funding for technology in the classroom has been eliminated as well as a drug-free schools funding. "Ask 10 parents what they want to see most in a school and they say that it is safe," he commented.

He told an audience at Waukegan High School that an eighth grader once mentioned to him that she sometimes loses hope. That cannot be allowed to happen, the nation's school chief said.

"That is the wrong signal for this country," he said.

"Knowing how to use computers and technology today is a basic skill. It is hard to get by without it," he said.

Some 12 years after the "Nation At Risk" report came out, progress is being made. Drop-out rate is down, and the advanced placement and test scores are up.

Rte. 53 opponents mobilize to continue fight

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

An anti-Route 53 committee is being formed in Hawthorn Woods in order to help consolidate opposition efforts toward the proposed tollway extension.

Following open discussions with residents and Illinois State Toll Highway Authority officials about proposed toll booths along the extension, many Hawthorn Woods, Long Grove and Mundelein residents quickly learned the open forums took for granted that the tollway was going to be built through their communities, displacing many homeowners and disrupting the environment.

Route 53 is planned to extend from Lake Cook Road through Long Grove, Hawthorn Woods and Mundelein to Grayslake, where it will connect with Route 120 and proceed eastward to I-94.

Tom Fries of Hawthorn Woods believes state and tollway officials have been trying to alter the debate away from the highway itself to toll booth locations as a way to misdirect public outcry. He said the point of the newly formed committee is to educate the public that the highway would create more air and water pollution, decrease property values, and potentially increase crime, and should be blocked altogether.

Fries said supporters of the roadway have "zero understanding of the ramifications... It's not going to be convenient. It's going to increase congestion."

Hawthorn Woods Trustee Andy Bitta has long argued that the extension would destroy Indian Creek, contaminate well water and increase flooding along the Des Plaines River.

"We're either for the community or we're not for the community," said Bitta, urging his fellow trustees to sanction the committee through the auspices of Hawthorn Woods. Long Grove has supported a similar committee designed to fight the building of the roadway.

The anti-53 committee would solicit volunteers to develop legal, environmental and public relation plans of action. The committee would be devised of "people who have influence, who have authority and who have power," Fries said. It would also welcome other communities and residents to lend their talents.

"The volunteers would act, as far as I am concerned, much like a task force to study issues in depth," Bitta said. "These people could do an awful lot of good to move this village ahead and to organize other communities."

Late last year, Hawthorn Woods dropped out of the Corridor Planning Council, an affiliation of communities working with the tollway authority to address a variety of concerns over the proposed extension. Board members had become frustrated being affiliated with a council that continually supported measures favoring the extension. The CPC, which does not officially support or oppose the extension, worked out a memorandum of understanding with the tollway authority, but the agreement has come under fire for lacking any binding powers by allowing the tollway authority to work in "good faith."

"We already have two resolutions opposing the extension; I think the next step is to sanction this committee, and maybe the next step is to expend some money and fight this thing," said Trustee John Clery.

As Hawthorn Woods legal counsel and committee members work out the details and responsibilities of the anti-53 committee, Bitta stressed, "The specific duty of this committee is to fight the road."

For more information about the anti-53 committee, call Leslie Minkus at 949-4555.

Illinois Senate Bill 17 was approved by a 31 to 23 vote, last week. The bill would establish a pilot program that would establish "Scholarship Schools" in the 1996-97 school year, enabling some lower income families in the Chicago School District to send students to the school of their choice. This would include private schools.

The bill establishes economic limits for families to qualify. Essentially, families who make less than 1.5 times the limit to qualify for the federal school lunch program could participate.

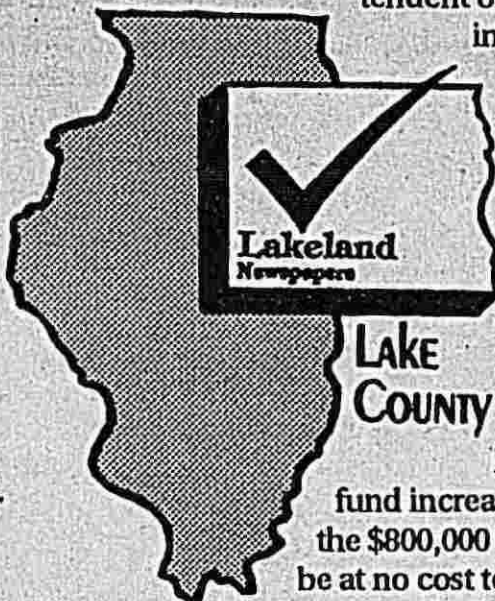

The pilot program would be limited to 2,000 in the first year. If more than 2,000 applications are received, families will be selected on a random basis. "They are trying to take care of the needy areas," said State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis.

AT A GLANCE

Unit forum informational

WADSWORTH—Millburn School Board President Gene Gracey and Edward Gonwa, Lake County superintendent of schools held an informational session regarding the proposed Lake Villa unit district. Gracey admitted that Millburn, if the unit fails, would need an additional building bond and an education fund increase but couldn't say how much the ed fund increase would be. He said the $800,000 building bond could be at no cost to taxpayers because the current building bond could be refinanced and extended for two years. Gonwa said his role at this time is to facilitate the process between the unit proponents and the six affected districts.

ACHS team takes sectionals

ANTIOCH—The Antioch Community High School Academic team has won the sectionals for a third year in a row, and is now headed to St. Charles to compete with other state winners. The team is headed there on Saturday with high hopes. "It is the third year in a row we have won our section," said Tom Belasius, faculty coach. "We're really proud."

Veteran fights for symbolism

VERNON HILLS—A former U.S. Marine is asking Vernon Hills officials for 10 more feet to help make a Veteran's Memorial in the village's proposed Arboretheater. A premiere memorial is proposed for those who have sacrificed their lives for their country. Village ordinance allows for 40-foot flag poles, but the veteran is asking for a 50-foot variance for the American flag pole so that each foot symbolically represents 20,000 soldiers lost in war. Two other flag poles donning the state and village flags would stand 10 feet lower than the U.S. flag. The memorial is set to be an entity onto itself with its own garden and fountains. There will also be separate walls dedicated to each branch of the armed forces.

Village wants baseball fields

LAKE VILLA—Village officials met with Lake County Forest Preserve to iron out details which would allow Lake Villa Township Baseball League to have three baseball fields at the Sun Lake Forest Preserve. Mayor Frank Loffredo maintains the league would rent the facility because of original agreement ceding the preserve to the County called for allowing ball fields on the site as a condition of the purchase. The site plan has already been accepted by Forest Preserve Committees. There is no timetable for another meeting between the two parties.

New cement plant to be built

FOX LAKE—A move was made to demolish the 20-year dormant Ready Mix plant on Rollins Road. The pledge that Mayor Ken Hamsher made in the past, came to light when he stated demolition of the existing plant should be within 30 to 45 days. At a meeting last Friday, the mayor and board also announced after 18 months of "constructive and productive meetings," Prairie Materials will be modernizing the cement plant on Rollins Rd. as well as landscaping the surrounding real estate to provide for a future industrial park in the Village of Fox Lake.

Condell to buffer impact

GRAYSLAKE—Residents neighboring a property purchased by Condell Hospital are concerned about the impact a medical facility would bring to their neighborhood. Their main concern is to prevent people from walking through their yards to the future medical facility, located along Rte. 120 near Harris Rd. Condell has been receptive to the concerns, agreeing to build landscape buffering and a six-foot fence around the 6-acre plat of land. Condell's plans are to build a two-story, eight-physician professional building.

Girl rescued from icy water

WARREN TOWNSHIP—Woodland Meadows neighborhood residents helped save the life of at least one girl trapped in icy waters of a subdivision pond on March 11. The three, ages 10, and 11 were rescued or reached shore on their own accord after trying to walk across ice which eventually gave way. Joe Brito, with the help of Tom Michalski, used an extended ladder to rescue one girl who was hanging onto the ice.

Residents join to fight road

MUNDELEIN—Many residents of Mundelein are against the Route 53 Toll Road proposed to run through the village. These residents have joined forces and created the group, Mundelein Against the Tollway. This 400 member group is out to fight Route 53 Toll Road and to inform other residents in the community and surrounding communities about Route 53.

Chamber hosts home show

LIBERTYVILLE—The Libertyville, Mundelein and Vernon Hills Chamber of Commerce will host the 4th Annual Home Improvement Show on Saturday and Sunday, April 8 and 9 at the Holiday Inn, Routes 45 and 83 in Mundelein, from 10-4 p.m. The cost of the event is $1 at the door, and the event will house 70 booths displaying the latest ideas in interior and exterior design, remodeling, landscaping, financing and energy conservation.

Pool set for referendum

GRAYSLAKE—The Grayslake Park District has completed plans and released details about a new pool facility referendum. The pool will be an enclosed winter/summer facility with a bath house. The $3 million facility is designed to fit into long term planning when the Park District may one day build a community center on the same site. The owners of a $100,000 home would see their taxes increase $47.50 per year. The pool facility financing plan is for 20 years.

Candidates to debate

LAKE ZURICH—Candidates running for Village trustee will face off in a debate sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers and moderated by the Barrington League of Woman Voters. Incumbent Trustees Larry Coffey, Jerry Blum and Kathy Schweit are running against Jim Kriskche, Jim Weakly and John Tolomei in the April 4 election. The candidates forum will be held in the auditorium at Lake Zurich High School, 300 Church St., at 8 p.m. March 21.

Citizen advisory group endorses IPF

At their March monthly meeting, the SWALCO Citizen Advisory Committee voted unanimously to formally recommend to the SWALCO Board of Directors that they approve the construction agreement with Resource Recycling Technologies (Vestal, N.Y.) to build a 250 ton per day recycling facility in Libertyville.

This 16 member group has been in existence since 1993, and is made up of private citizens for the purpose of advising the board of directors on matters relating to the implementation of the Lake County Solid Waste Management Plan. The motion, made by Dan Lownstein of Lincolnshire, reads:

"The Citizen Advisory Committee recommends to the board of directors that they approve the RRT construction agreement and thus allow the SWALCO membership the opportunity to determine whether they wish to participate in the Intermediate Processing Facility Project."

Bill Vanni of Libertyville, chairman of the advisory committee, said, "We are not the first citizen committee to endorse this project. It was studied and recommended by the Recycling and Yard Waste Management Citizen Advisory Committee back in 1991 and 1992."

"By approving the construction agreement at their next board meeting, the directors will be giving each of the members' municipalities an opportunity to determine whether or not the project is appropriate for their community," said David Erickson of Lindenhurst.

"We believe in this project," said Larry Blacik of Waukegan. "This facility will make it infinitely easier for the resident to recycle, which will divert waste from our county's landfills. Hopefully, it will encourage communities without a curbside program to consider one."

Said Vanni, "Solid waste planning started in this county in the early '80s. I hope that now that it is time for this agency to do something, they do it."

Youth Conservation Corps receives donations

Over $20,500 has been raised so far for the 1995 Lake Co. Forest Preserves' Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) summer job program. Donations were made by Tenneco Automotive, Lake Forest Journal, Baxter Healthcare Corp., Gavel International, Yaskawa Electric America, Inc., Kemper Corp., Kemper National Ins. Co., Bernardi Securities, Inc., Maclean-Fogg, Lake Assoc., Inc., Helen Yomine, GSC Environmental Laboratories and Marc Posner.

Contributions of all levels from businesses and individuals are needed and appreciated. A donation of $1,700 supports each position. Donations are the sole source of support for the summer conservation job program for Lake Co. teenagers. Celebrating its 21st year, YCC has helped hundreds of young men and women gain work skills while learning about the environment and enhancing forest preserves throughout Lake Co.

A goal of $80,000 to fund 44 positions has been set. Positions are awarded by lottery in early May. Any Lake Co. teenager between the ages of 16 and 18 may apply. For more information on donating to the YCC program, call Bob McCommon, forest preserve program manager, at 526-0238.

Forest preserve spring newsletter now available

Make plans for a fun spring with help from a free Lake County Forest Preserve newsletter, available now. The spring issue of "Horizons" includes a map of all forest preserves and details on more than 40 programs and events.

A kite festival, fishing derby, canoe race and sheep shearing demonstration are just a few of the events planned for March, April and May. "Celebrate Nature" is the theme for the twelfth annual Smith Symposium, featuring keynote speakers Donald and Lillian Stokes, naturalists and nationally-renowned authors. Teacher workshops, nature hikes and conservation projects are also offered in forest preserves throughout Lake County.

The spring newsletter features information and a chance to enter a winning name for a new forest preserve in Libertyville. It gives details on self-guided nature trails at Ryerson Woods near Deerfield and Greenbelt Forest Preserve near Waukegan and North Chicago. A listing of Earth Day programs offered throughout Lake County in celebration of the 25th anniversary of this landmark event is also included.

For a free subscription to the Lake County Forest Preserve "Horizons" newsletter, call 367-6640.

Students asked to participate in Law Day

The Circuit Court of the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit, Lake County, encourages all seventh and eighth grade students in Lake County to participate in the Law Day U.S.A. 1995 essay competition. This year the Circuit Court of Lake County has chosen the theme entitled "Crime and Punishment". All seventh and eighth grade students in Lake County are eligible to enter. The essay may be typed or legibly handwritten in no more than 500 words. All entries must be received by April 14 and should be forwarded to: The Honorable Stephen E. Walter, Chief Judge, 19th Judicial Circuit, Attention: Public Relations Committee, Lake County Courthouse, 18 North County Street, Waukegan, IL 60085.

Questions and requests for additional information may be directed to Diane Flory at 360-6580 or Judge Victoria A. Rossetti at 360-5707.

Geo-Karis admits the bill is complex. "It is a complicated bill," she said. "But it's a start."

While there have been some rumblings regarding a constitutional challenge, because the bill will allow students to use the voucher money to attend "religious" schools, Geo-Karis does not think opponents will be able to overturn the bill. "We have found three constitutional cases," said Geo-Karis, which support this type of legislation. "There have been a couple of cases."

Geo-Karis has historically been a supporter of education, both public and private. She said in her first years in the senate she supported the text book bill, which allowed a financial allowance for textbooks to students in private schools. Geo-Karis said her own education had been a mix of both public and private.

"I believe in both types of education," said Geo-Karis, "both private and public. I feel it is only fair. Parents of private school students pay taxes as well as parents of public school students."

The Senate sponsor of the bill is Senator Dan Cronin. The House sponsor is Representative David Winters. After Senate approval, the bill is now headed to the House of Representatives.

Riley

"Some type of post-secondary education is needed for students to find a fulfilling life and good jobs," he said.

Three-fourths of the prison inmates have less than a high school diploma. One-half of welfare mothers are high school dropouts.

The amount of education is directly tied to the success one will have in future career goals, Riley said.

"American people believe in education. It is a great priority even in an era of a trend against expenses. We need to prepare our students for the 21st Century," the former South Carolina governor said.

"We need to be concerned of the long-term debt of under educating our children," Riley said.

The Navy veteran stressed the need for family involvement in schools and the positives of young people.

Adorable pets patiently waiting for a new home

Ashley & Paula

"Ashley" is a two-year-old spayed female, black and tan spaniel/shepherd mix. She has a lovely, silky soft, semi-long coat and fringing on legs, chest and tail. Ashley was housebroken when she came to the shelter. A smaller, mid-size dog, she is excellent with children, is sweet and full of playful enthusiasm. But, most of all, she is loving and affectionate. Ashley would be a super dog for a family. She has waited far too long for a loving home, since March of 1994, in Cage 23.

"Paula" is a female 18-month-old Labrador/rottweiler mix. This attractively marked black dog has a white bib and muzzle and a short, sleek coat. Timid at first, she is lovable and impressively well behaved, a real treasure waiting to be found. Once you've gained her trust, she is a devoted dog who will be your shadow. Paula needs a nurturing, calm, loving and quiet home atmosphere where she can feel safe and gain confidence through positive reinforcement and training. She gets along well with other dogs and would do best with teens and adults. Waiting eagerly in Cage 78, cash $55 donation includes free spay, collar, leash, first shots, follow-up care and more. Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd. in Deerfield. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week. Call 945-0235 for further information.

"Pete," a shepherd mix; and two Springer spaniel brothers, "Barney" and "Boomer" ran in previous editions and were adopted. "Scamp" was the Pet of the Week on two separate occasions earlier this year and has found a home.

Mykat

Under two years old, "Mykat" has a gorgeous fluffy coat and as soft a disposition and temperament. She was part of a litter that was orphaned, has been spayed and has all her shots. She's a true beauty.

Call (815)455-9411 for an appointment to see this or many other wonderful pets. Remember, adult animals make wonderful pets, and one has the advantage of knowing exactly what his or her personality is like. Assisi Animal

Pritzgers 'sell short' on first land design

Hopes that the Pritzgers will come up with a notable plan for a major Lake County land holding may yet be realized if local officials have the gumption to tell the super rich and influential family to return to the drawing board and try again.

To describe the initial offering for development of the 850 acre Lake Lure site as "pedestrian" would be generous. Preliminary land plans for the center piece of the county's largest watershed are more like Planning 101 or an off-the-shelf design obtainable at any local library.

As sponsors of an annual world-wide competition in architecture, owners of the notable Hyatt hotel chain and benefactors of health care at the University of Chicago, it was logical to expect more than Pritzger design consultants offered the planning and zoning committee of the Village of Round Lake, which has the corporate authority for development of the vast wetlands area astride the Avon and Grant township line.

Basically, the planners clustered "pods" earmarked for single and multiple family dwellings around the wetlands and a small lake that comprise about half of the total area and requested planned unit development (PUD) zoning. A spokesman said the Pritzgers through a subsidiary company plan to install necessary infrastructure and sell the pods to individual developers.

To their credit, the land planners provided plenty of open space and preservation of the wetlands which are regarded as pristine and serve the natural function of filtering 28,000 acres that drain into the Chain O'Lakes through nearby Long Lake, a recreational lake exceeding 600 acres. Commissioners of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. already have inquired about obtaining the wetlands, known locally as Mud Lake, for open space and preservation. Acquisition of public space is a distinct possibility and should be pursued.

What is disquieting about the initial plan is that the village will be thrust into zoning the individual pods piecemeal if the PUD is approved and the fact that the Pritzgers, at least up to this point, have opted to go for a high density plan as opposed to a design like Prairie Crossing, a mixed used development highly sensitive to the environment, six miles to the east in central Lake County.

At this point, Mayor James Lumber and the Round Lake council still are in a position to advise that a more innovative, imaginative plan would be in order. By any standard, and even their own standards, the Pritzgers with real estate holdings around the world and impeccable architectural tastes, have sold themselves short in their first Lake County development.

Rail commute totals remain on upswing

Railroad commuting continues to be a popular form of transportation. More than 74.7 million passenger trips were taken on Metra commuter rail last year, an increase of some 2.1 million trips compared to 1993.

Metra's north line to Fox Lake remains one of the most used rail commuter links. With more and more ridership from growing towns like Grayslake and the Round Lake area, north line ridership increased 145,897, or 2.8 percent.

This puts north line behind Metra/Burlington Northern (Aurora), the leader in total increase with 598,967 rides; west line (Elgin) with the biggest percentage increase of 6.1 percent, and other heavily used lines like Metra north line (Kenosha), west line (Geneva) and Metra/Rock Island (Joliet).

Metra Chairman Jeff Ladd said that while more riders are carried every day, available seats still exceeds demand. Ladd noted that riding the train is considerably cheaper than commuting by car. Metra's last fare increase was in 1989.

If the Libertyville station is any indication, a major problem is providing parking space for all the commuters. For Metra it's easier to add another rail car than to provide space for another automobile.

Viewpoint Gramm picks up steam in presidential footrace

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

With the really important campaigns rolling into the final stretch (April 4 village elections), we'll soon be able to turn our undivided attention to the cluttered presidential sweepstakes.

Odd, isn't it, that the two major parties have reversed positions regarding candidate dynamics. Four years ago, President Bush was a lock for a second term nomination. All the wannabees were Democratic challengers.

Now, despite Vice President Al Gore's twitchings and the Gephardt gambols, the Democrats likely will nominate President Clinton for a second term. The flock of challengers are Republicans.

Respected nationally syndicated political columnist Jeffrey Hart recently wrote about an "off the record" dinner where about 20 influential conservatives surveyed the 1996 presidential race.

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm emerged as the unanimous choice of the supper group as the GOP nominee. As a former academic, Gramm has intellectual respect. His political track record more than matches the field. He has raised millions for the race. Gramm has a knack of putting complicated economic questions in simple, easily understood terms. He's not slick. Just the opposite.

Hart wrote that one of Gramm's intangible advantages is that Gramm's wife, of Asian extraction, will be a political plus.

Of local interest, Gramm has important Lake County contacts, albeit low key support. He's the only one of the Republican White House seekers who has visited Lake County.

Hart adroitly dismissed other GOP notables in the presidential chase. Conservatives, according to the columnist, see U.S. Sen. Bob Dole as the "tax collector for the welfare state," a proponent of big government. Interesting observation, probably stemming from Dole's long years as a Beltway insider.

Three well known Republicans with separate followings have taken themselves out of the race—Jack Kemp, a "gasbag;" Dan Quayle, "no one takes him seriously," and Speaker Newt Gingrich, whose brains, articulateness and energy makes him the most popular figure in U.S. politics, in Hart's opinion. But Newt's not running.

Lamar Alexander may have money and desire, but he's a holdover from the sorry Bush administration. Gov. Pete Wilson has all those California delegates, but he's also got the unwanted baggage of a troubled state.

So Gramm's the GOP's guy, plain talk, rumpled suit and all. The Texas senator will make a marvelous contrast to Slick Willy. Another thought, he might be the only one who can keep Ross Perot on the sidelines. The Republicans could do worse.

LETTERS TO THE Editor

Solution at the polls

Editor:

I have never replied to a letter to the editor before. I do so now, not for my ego, but because I sincerely believe that the incumbent Lake Zurich board has taken some very serious wrong turns, and we the taxpayers will be the losers. Our schools will lose. Unnecessary tax dollars will be spent.

Readers don't need to be confused or given smoke and mirrors to mislead them. Here is some clarification:

The million dollar referendum for Breezewald Park passed 2 to 1. The plan presented to the public called for a purchase price of about $800,000 and the rest for development. Condemnation is a price set by a court, based on established value and appraisal. Two years ago, the established value was $650,000, with an asking price of $925,000, not $1,300,000. Today the price of the last transaction is $850,000. Do incumbents really think the court will set a lower value today than two years ago?

The incumbents did vote to preannex land for high density housing on Midlothian Rd. One hundred thirty-one people, by count, attended the hearing. Mr. Karahalios could not have been one of them or he would not have said only eight were in opposition. Eight people did speak against the issue representing over 100 neighbors who applauded and gave words of assent.

Further, Mr. "K" confuses the issue when he says that Lake Zurich requires higher school contributions than neighboring villages. So what! No other neighboring village would accept a high density development. In fact, Lake Zurich turned the developer down eight years ago. If no one would accept them over the past eight years, what makes the incumbents think they must rush to take them in before some other big bad village with one-acre zoning beats them out?

The original proposal to rezone 50 acres from industrial to residential to build 174 houses is dead. See LETTERS page B7

PARTY LINES

Spending mood engulfs April 4 village candidates

Party lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

With the April 4 village election day just around the corner, combatants are getting down to the nitty-gritty, meaning emptying out their campaign war chests.

Lake Zurich is abuzz with the report that members of the Lake Zurich First slate challenging incumbents turned down a $5,000 contribution from a developer.

Mayor Ralph Davis of Round Lake Beach, working to ensure the election of Reclaim the Beach candidates, said the slate will spend less than $2,000 on the campaign, peanuts compared to a number to towns. Signs and campaign literature are the big-ticket items, according to Davis.

Former Beach Mayor Carl Schrimpf, defeated by two votes by Davis for reelection two years ago, isn't disguising his preference for Rescue the Beach candidates and is lining up contributions.

Schrimpf has all but declared for a shot at Davis in 1997.

Taking no chances—Although there's a good chance he won't have opposition next year, Republican State's Atty.

Mike Waller held a fund-raiser at the Country Squire Friday afternoon to aid his campaign for reelection.

Campaign hike—With advice to "do more walking than talking," former Lake Co. Board Rep. Bertha Ogrin is campaigning for election to the Waukegan city council. Ogrin was defeated for reelection last November by Republican Jim Stanzak, who was credited with knocking on more doors than the veteran Waukegan Democrat.

Ogrin is going up against Phillip Stevenson in the 7th Ward who knocked off Ald. James Petkus in the primary. Stevenson, a former police chief in Waukegan, is attempting to parlay law enforcement experience into a political career.

Honor brunch—Party planners say they are using left-over campaign funds to purchase goodies for a brunch Sunday, March 19, at the Highland Park Country Club honoring former State Sen.

Stern

Grace Mary Stern who was defeated for reelection last November. Guests will be on their own for beverages, but the menu is guaranteed to satisfy all. Stern is expected to reveal whether she has plans for public service in the future or will be assuming the status of elder stateswoman for the Democrats.

Seek connection—Cynics are searching for a connection between the proposed closing of a mental health facility in Waukegan and plans to locate a riverboat casino in the county seat. More than a few employees of Ann M. Kiley Development Center, due for closure in an economy move, are wondering how strenuous a fight will be put up by State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa), two of the staunchest supporters of Gov. Jim Edgar, who reportedly is the architect of the closure.

Mayors agree—Three of Lake Zurich's past and present mayors have come together to support three incumbent trustees who are running for reelection April 4.

Mayor Deborah A. Vasels (1993 to present), former Mayor James W. Kay (1989 to 1993) and former Mayor Henry J. Paulus (1969 to 1989) have all put their support behind Kay Trustees Larry Coffey, Jerry Blum and Kathy Schwelt. The incumbents are scheduled to appear in a debate, sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers, against trustee candidates Jim Kriskche, Jim Weakly and John Tolomei at 8 p.m. March 21 at Lake Zurich High School.

Kay

Gash to address forum—State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-60th) will address a United We Stand, America- Illinois forum at the Deerfield Library, March 25th at 10 a.m. Newly elected Chairman and President Jack Koenig will moderate the forum.

Taking issue—Secretary of Veterans Affairs Gash Jesse Brown made a stop in Chicago to speak out against Congressional proposals to cut veterans benefits and reduce VA funding, March 12.

Privatizing correction—Hearings took place last week on a House bill which gives the state the option to investigate the use of private prisons to control costs and meet the increased prison space demands of proposed truth-and-sentencing legislation. House Bill 554 was introduced by State Rep. Al Salvi (R-52nd) as a cost savings measure. Salvi, a strong supporter of truth and sentencing believes more prisons are the only answer to the inmate population crisis.

Another proposal is ready to go which would rezone the same parcel for 100 townhouses and 100 houses. It has not reached committee and will not until after the election. Neither will proposals for townhouses near Braemar, Knollwood and both sides of the curve east of Target Rental on Rte. 22. Mr. Karahalios, I have lived in the town and been active in civic affairs for 35 years. I believe my sources and believe the multiple housing flood gates are ready to be opened and only Charlie Crawford on the board along with candidates Jim Weakly, John Tolomei and Jim Kriskche can keep the gates closed.

We need to consolidate public works onto one site, but not for the proposed $3.6, $3 or $2.6 million. We should look at existing available industrial sites. We should go to referendum rather than transfer funds and borrow them back at substantial interest rates without voter input.

Lake Zurich did change its building code. Do you consider removing the fire safety provision that requires masonry construction be placed between units and floors of multiple townhouse units an upgrade? I don't! It lowers the cost per unit by over $5,000 and makes building townhouses desirable for developers.

People are neither all right nor all wrong. It is only the recent turn of events over the past 18 months that has convinced me that the incumbents are rapidly moving in the wrong direction.

Education benefits all

Editor:

A caller to Lipservice recently wondered why any citizens other than parents of school children should pay taxes to support schools. This question is basic to our American way of life and should be answered clearly.

Our great nation's founding fathers (and mothers) recognized the benefits that educated people brought to everyone in American communities, not just to themselves and their families. In our modern communities, too, educated people improve the lives of all of their neighbors, including those who never have been parents or who do not have children in schools now. Every time a nurse or doctor cares for you, a police officer protects you, a firefighter saves lives, a writer informs or entertains you, or any professional person pays taxes to share that load with you, you are benefiting from the education these people have received, most of them in public schools.

Let's consider what would happen to homeowners with no children if schools were not supported by most citizens. Schools would fail in educating most of our youth, and let's recognize that most are learning despite the publicized problems of some schools. Uneducated youths and former youths would more likely create havoc in our towns and countryside—and fail to get paying work. The homes on which you pay taxes would be much less safe if you saved tax now but uneducated mobs were roaming our streets. I could go on for pages listing problems that would result from unsupported schools.

None of us enjoy paying taxes, and I believe our state depends too much on local real estate taxes to support schools. But I serve on a school board (an unpaid volunteer position), and in our district the school board pays constant attention to the impact of our decisions on taxpayers. We exercise fiscal restraint, while husbanding limited funds as effectively as we can. Our schools are respected. Our district is in the black, financially, and tax rates have gone down more often than not in recent years. Still, we are painfully aware that tax bills may rise for many district residents due to assessments that are not under our control. We seek the opinions of taxpayers, including the many who don't have children in the schools, in our district governance. Most of them support our schools enthusiastically, because they know how important the schooling of their fellow citizens really is. Thanks to them, we all benefit.

We hope explosive development that brings in new busloads of students will not throw our district's finances out of control. As long as local village (and county) governments avoid granting residential TIF districts or other destructive threats to schools and taxpayers, we will have a fair chance of supporting the interests of all district residents. We will work to protect the educational and economic interests of residents, including senior citizens and others who have no children in schools but still benefit as their neighbors of school age are educated. Among their interests is living in an educated society.

Lavish school spending

Editor:

When B.E.S.T.—Better Education Sensible Taxes—released teacher and administration salaries for public consumption, community members were shocked and horrified.

At that time of public release a year ago, Antioch High had a superintendent with a salary of $88,500. The community was shocked and went to the polls to show displeasure with spending unwisely.

Now we find the board has hired another superintendent at even a higher salary. Dr. Hockney's salary is recorded at $102,000 "plus" benefits and retirement contributions.

Noting the board signature on the contract as Joanne H. Osmond, the proposed unit district's potential president-elect on the ballot. One must presume if Joanne H. Osmond is elected to the unit district board, her lavish liberal spending habits will follow her to the unit's inevitable takeover by the State of Illinois' financial and education watchdog.

Tax and spend Osmond (not an Antioch Osmond), would surely drive the unit district into receivership and foreclosure.

Seeks senior volunteers

Editor:

It is not very difficult to find people who criticize the school system, teachers and the children.

There is a small group who do volunteer over and over because they understand the difference it can make. Each of us is unique and should share in the contribution to our school communities. Each little contribution can add up to a whole change for the better. Parents who do volunteer have children who usually do better.

I also have trouble understanding the lack of involvement by our senior citizens. Our senior citizens come out in droves to vote down a school referendum. But, rarely is one sighted in a school volunteering. These people are a gold mine of time, knowledge and experience. Not to mention the emotional impact this might have on children who do not have grandparents available to them. I believe the school district should court these people and bring them into the system.

There really must be a need if you keep seeing messages like this one in your newspapers. You have to ask yourself why people keep taking the time and thought to write this message?

'The Lonely Traveler' headlines Adler Center's Blues Night

The David Adler Cultural Center has just added a special blues night to its spring concert series. Taking the stage on Saturday, March 18, will be the local blues duo Rollin' an Tumblin', featuring Jim Fraher on guitar and John Jochem on harmonica and vocals. Headlining the all acoustic show will be the veteran Chicago bluesman Jimmie Lee Robinson, a cabby whose own cab proclaims its own driver is "The Lonely Traveler."

The 8 p.m. concert will be held at the Adler Cultural Center at 1700 N. Milwaukee in Libertyville. Admission to the concert is $8 for adults, $5 for members, seniors and children under 16. Advance tickets are recommended. Tickets may be purchased in person at the Adler Center or by phone with a VISA or MasterCard at 367-0707.

Jimmie Lee Robinson's recent album "The Lonely Traveler" on Chicago-based Delmark Label marks a return to the recording studio after a 30-year hiatus. Robinson began playing the guitar at age 11 while growing up near Maxwell Street market, which during his youth in the 1940s was a blues mecca. Over the next two decades, Robinson played with a roster of Chicago blues giants that included such pioneers as Big Bill Broonzy and Memphis Minnie and second-generation stars like Freddie King, Elmore James and Little Walter. After several years of playing the clubs at night, Robinson gave up his performing career—which had taken him as far away as Europe—for a steady post with the Chicago Board of Education. Since his retirement, he's been driving his cab, but his revived musical career may allow him to cut back.

Rollin' and Tumblin' is an acoustic blues duo consisting of Jim Fraher, guitar and vocals, and John Jochem, harmonica and vocals. These musicians have been laying down their own special blend of acoustic blues entertaining audiences at many venues.

Drawing upon musical influences ranging from the melodic traditional blues of the Carolinas, gritty Texas-based stylings and, of course, the soulful sound of the deep Mississippi Delta, the duo brings to life the early origins of blues and rock and roll in an entertaining inspired style all their own.

The David Adler Cultural Center is a not-for-profit organization that offers classes and individual instruction in music and visual arts. Its folk music programs include a full schedule of jam sessions, open stages, barn dances and concerts, as well as private instruction. This program is supported in part by a grant from the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency.

Some lucky women are getting a second chance for a better life thanks to the Haven.

The Lake County Haven in Libertyville offers homeless women an opportunity to get back on their feet and stay there. This unique transitional living center helps women break the bleak circumstances they are in, turn it around and become productive members of society.

The home provides shelter to 10 people. Currently there are five women and five children living at the center.

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

"It's not a homeless center; it's a transitional living center," said Barbara Beckman, of Lake County Haven.

Each woman living there abides by the four-part program. Each must be enrolled in some form of education or schooling, they must work, get counseling and work on budgeting.

Some of the ladies receive job training through the Private Industry Council. Some qualify for classes at College of Lake County. Others need to get a (GED) and some skills training. Others may simply require refresher courses.

Residents are far from coddled. They must do at least one chore a day. They must keep their rooms clean, take part in decision-making of buying groceries and assist in making meals.

"We (Beckman and Director Mary Anne Engler) both worked and went to school full-time; so we know we aren't asking too much of them," Beckman said.

Engler related she lived in 23 different places in one year.

"There are many different reasons for being homeless. But families can overcome it," she said.

Engler said the center

Homeless women get a second chance differs from a traditional center because it screens its people who are referred from churches or service agencies and provides the four-step approach. She said the Haven is much different than what people might first suspect. To date, the police have never been called to the house.

"We are not a place for battered women. We would not bring anyone who would put the house or the neighbors at risk," Engler said.

The typical stay of the women is about four to six months. During that time they are saving 70 percent of their money to put a down payment on permanent housing which is usually $1,000 to $2,000 to finance a security deposit and first month's rent.

"We give women the chance to take advantage of the opportunities we offer.

Most of the women over 30 realize what a gift this place is. It's a place where one can be reflective and really put it together if they want to," Engler said.

The groundwork for the Haven began with a meeting of six people who were concerned about the homeless and decided to work toward providing a transitional living center. They formed a board of directors, adopted by-laws and found an acceptable building and a director.

The first guest moved in May 25, 1992 in a house in Libertyville. The Haven moved to its current location in January of 1994.

The center is supported by donations from throughout Lake County. Among the donors include private businesses such as McDonald's which donated the cost of a fenced-in play area with playground equipment. The Lake Forest Presbyterian Church was instrumental in providing funds to purchase a home.

Many schools, citizens and businesses donate cash, food and clothing items for the residents. Magee Middle School in Round Lake donated $1,000 towards the home and Engler said Libertyville school children and their parents have donated clothing and parents chip in to let Haven kids go on field trips.

The site of the house is in a typical residential neighborhood. It has two levels with four bedrooms, a kitchen and living area and two bathrooms.

"It's wonderful to be in Libertyville. It's an old-fashioned community, with old fashioned values," Engler said.

The success of the program is hard to measure. Beckman said no one who has completed the program has come back again.

If there are any questions about the Haven, please call 680-5408. For cash donations, send to PO Box 843, Lake Forest 60045. The Haven is having a fund raiser on April 8 at Lake Forest Club, for more information call the above number.

Linda Christian talks with Haven assistant Barbara Beckman about possible career plans over dinner. Christian says of the Haven, "It's good to get a sense of a family relationship back."

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The work week gets off to a fine start early on. You'll be opening doors that will lead to important gains in the future. People you meet now rapidly become influential. Exercise initiative.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Those of you who are grandparents will enjoy visiting with grandchildren this week. Plans for a vacation trip fall happily into place. Finances are amenable to this. The weekend accents fun through social interests.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) This is a good time to begin home improvements and to apply for mortgages and extra credit. However, be aware of the ratio of your income to the amount of debt you can handle. A special entertainment awaits this weekend.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) It's a good week for self-promotion and reaching agreements with others. Tend to unanswered phone calls and letters by catching up on all correspondence. You could receive a social invitation from a neighbor for the weekend.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) The steps you take this week to further career interests will lead to timely financial gains. This is a time to let others know exactly what you're doing and how well things are progressing. Don't be afraid to do a bit of bragging.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You could become aware of a need for greater physical exercise this week. Thus, it's an ideal time to start a fitness program. Remember, diet is important also. The weekend accents dating and happy times.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) It seems you have much to do about the house this week. In fact, it's not a bad idea to get an early jump on spring cleaning chores. Family togetherness highlights the weekend.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You'll be making plans to visit dear ones who live far away. You and a friend will be making an important agreement which could result in some lucrative gains for both of you. Happiness comes through socializing this weekend.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) It should be clear sailing for you regarding business and financial interests this week. A cooperative mood prevails both at home and on the job. Bring a new moneymaking idea to the attention of higher-ups.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You have many strong beliefs, and this week you'll speak out about them. However, avoid a tendency to be dogmatic. Some decide to sign up for a course of further study now. The week's business advice proves helpful.

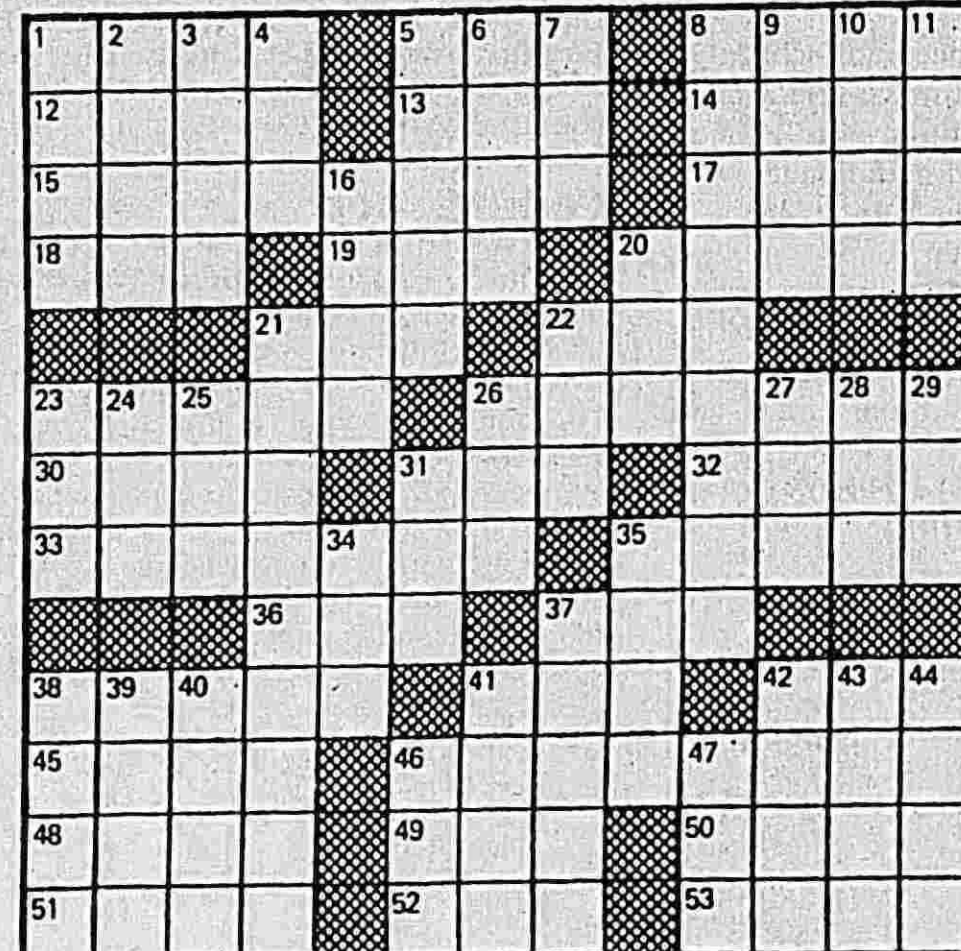

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You're ready to make some major financial moves because you've done all your research. Consulting with an adviser will make you better aware of suitable investments. Privacy is a must this weekend.

McNulty dances 'On The Road Again...'

The McNulty Irish Dancers have been chosen to perform on the American Garden Stage at the International Village in Epcot on March 27. The dancers were selected after Disney's Magic Music Days talent coordinator viewed audition tapes of them performing on a cable TV special and at other shows.

The McNulty Irish Dancers have competed all over the United States and Canada and last April attended the All World Championship competitions held in Dublin, Ireland. Last summer the McNulty Irish Dancers were chosen to represent Ireland at the World Cup Opening Ceremonies at Soldier's Field. Locally, the dancers have performed at the College of Lake County, Gilmer Road House, Paddy's On The Square in Long Grove, Carmel High School Street Scenes, Libertyville Days, Mundelein Days, Gurnee Mills, and various community organizations as well as untold private parties, weddings and corporate businesses. The dancers have won the Lake County Talent Competition and have placed in the top ten in this competition for the past ten years.

The 52 dancers performing at Epcot under the direction of Barbara McNulty T.C.R.G. range in age from 5 to 17 years. The areas they represent extend from Chicago to Warrenville; Brookfield to Fox Lake. Some dancers are coming from the McNulty class in Dubuque, Iowa.

For further information contact Barbara McNulty at 608-4434.

Humor, wit, improvisation key to Second City hit

Second City etc.'s 14th revue, "One Nation, Under Fraud," is full of barmy humor dispensed with a mix of well-aimed barbs, spirited high jinks and perverse satire.

A seasoned six-member cast consisting of Jimmy Doyle, Adam McKay, Dee Ryan, John Hildreth, Jenna Jolovitz and Jim Zulevic, directed by Peter Burns, provides a stewpot of laughs — something for everyone.

Yet the targets can be tiresomely predictable, from Newt Gingrich and Rush Limbaugh to the striking baseball players and Streetwise news vendors.

An unexpected appearance by Abraham Lincoln in one off-beat skit opens the doors for some wacky 'one-liners' ("I've never dated a guy who's on money").

Another skit, featuring a pair of mean-spirited airline switchboard operators, is wickedly funny.

One of the best bits, "Biograph," comes early on and pits a scatterbrained suburban woman as the last customer set to leave a Chicago parking lot at 2 a.m., only she can't find her car. Panicking, she is convinced the attendant is out to do her harm. This becomes a totally irrational and thoroughly ridiculous racial confrontation.

An improvisational skit on the humble toaster gives the eager cast a chance to shine.

Ticket information on "One Nation, Under Fraud," which plays Wednesdays through Sundays at 1616 N. Wells in Chicago is available at (312) 644-4432.—by Tom Witom

Cuneo Museum, gardens offers fascinating tours

The Cuneo Museum and Gardens offers tours of 18 rooms of the lavishly furnished circa 1914 Italianate mansion designed by Chicago architect Benjamin Marshall.

The estate originally was the home of Samuel Insull, one of the wealthiest and most powerful businessmen to live in Chicago at the turn of the century.

More recently, from 1937 to 1990, the mansion was the home of the John F. Cuneo family. John Cuneo, Sr., bought the estate in 1935. He was a prominent Chicago businessman and philanthropist, founder of Cuneo Press, Hawthorn-Melody Farm, and many other businesses. The museum collections contain valuable old master Italian paintings, Capo di Monte porcelain, American and European silver and exquisite oriental rugs, Flemish tapestries and Continental antique furniture. All the furnishings were owned by the Cuneo family when they lived in the mansion.

The 75 acres of land on which the mansion is situated were landscaped by Jens Jensen.

The Cuneo Museum and Gardens is open Tuesday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Brunch is served on Sundays. The cost is $18 per person. Call 362-2025 for further information.

Good Food

Seafood is soulfood, perfect for Lent

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

Those who observe Lent, the 40 days leading up to Easter, traditionally substitute fish for meat in their Friday meals. But seafood isn't just good for the soul, it's good for the body. Fish and shellfish are loaded with the protein, vitamins and minerals that make up a healthy diet.

Salmon, sole and calamari and 3,000 other varieties of high-quality fish and shellfish are available direct to the public from Supreme Lobster, a full-service seafood distributor. Supreme Lobster ships its live lobsters and other seafood overnight to the public anywhere in the country via Federal Express. To order call 1-800-832-2858.

Salmon on a Bed of Leeks

1 bunch leeks (3 to 4)

2 teaspoon olive oil

1/2 cup dry white wine or vermouth

2 6-8 ounce salmon filets

2 tablespoons grated Gruyere cheese

salt and pepper to taste

Trim green tops and root ends from leeks; slit vertically into quarters, leaving 1/3-inch intact at root end. Separate sections and wash under cold running water. Drain well.

In a 10-inch sauté pan, heat olive oil over medium flame. Add leeks and cook 2 to 3 minutes, stirring often, until wilted. Stir in wine. Arrange salmon on leeks, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Reduce heat to low, cover and cook 5 minutes. Sprinkle cheese over filets, cover and cook another 3 to 5 minutes, or until salmon is opaque around edges and firm and cheese is melted.

Transfer to warm dinner plate with broad spatula and serve immediately. Serves 2.

Irish research workshop set for April

Do you have Irish ancestry? The British Interest Group of Wisconsin and Illinois (BIG WILL) in conjunction with the Irish Genealogical Society of Wisconsin will present an Irish Research Workshop on April 29 in Richmond. It will be held at the Grace Lutheran Church from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"Resources for Irish Research" will feature Josephine O'Hara Christon, an instructor in Irish genealogy, will present "Show Me the Way to Go Home: Locating the Irish Parish and Townland." She has done genealogical research for over 12 years and has served on various boards and organizations.

Thomas Gillea Cannon, a practicing attorney and law firm partner, will lecture on "Basic Tools of Irish Research: Tithe Applotment, Church Records, Civil Records, Estate Records."

Patricia Kenney Geyh, one of the founders of the Irish Genealogical Society and a guidance counselor, will speak on "Using Griffith's Valuation." She will also present a program on "Irish Genealogical Research through the Family History Library."

"Research in Northern Ireland" will be presented by Jean Yigit, a past President of the Milwaukee County Genealogical Society. The workshop costs of $20 includes lunch which will be provided by the Grace Lutheran Church members and staff. After April 21 the cost will be $24. For further information, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Big Will Conference, P. O. Box 8003, Janesville, WI 53547-8003.

The public is invited to attend the informal meeting.

For transportation to the meetings contact, Paul Milner at 823-4282.

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

Rescue ABEAR—The Conclusion

On camera. William Shatner is talking to Mrs. Abear, as he checks his hair in the hall mirror. "So, Mrs. Abear—what was your first name again? Oh, yes—Diane. I'll bet you're a Star Trek fan, am I right?"

"Are you kidding? I'd rather be strapped to a chair and watch nine hours of MASH reruns."

"Oh yeah? Well, it's not picnic for me filming the rescue of a baby who's stuck in her crib because she's had a few too many bowls of Pablum! Oh, are we on camera? Hello, audience. Welcome to the exciting conclusion of Rescue ABEAR. When we left you last week, Mrs. Abear had become frantic when her daughter's leg became caught in the crib. Let's find out what happened next."

Off camera. "Listen, Shutnut or whatever your name is—by the way, my name is Donna, not Diane—my baby is not the only one who's a little on the chubby side. Have you looked in the mirror lately? I'll bet you couldn't get those thighs on past your knees, Buster!"

On camera. Mrs. Abear rushes to the phone and dials her father-in-law who lives nearby. No answer. She dials the neighbors. No answer, either. The baby is screaming louder. Panicked, she dials 911. "Hello? An emergency? Well, I guess so, my baby's leg is stuck in the crib and I can't get it out! Can you send someone with a hacksaw? What? Sure, I'll hold?"

The camera cuts to the offices of the 911 operators who are bent over laughing. "She wants you to send someone with a hacksaw? Get out!" They laugh for three minutes.

The camera returns to Mrs.

Abear, who cannot wait to hold any longer with her daughter screaming in the other room. She rushes back to check on her, and there is little Sammie, still stuck. The phone rings. Mrs. Abear yells downstairs to her six-year-old son, Brandon, who is oblivious to the baby's screaming because he's watching reruns of Lassie. She asks him to stay with his sister while she answers the phone. It's the 911 operator.

"Why did you hang up, Mrs. Abear? You're supposed to stay on the line!"

After a short conversation with the 911 operator, Mrs. Abear is told that the rescue squad is on the way. The operator is not sure if they have a hacksaw.

Two minutes later, there is a knock at the door. Brandon runs to the door to see who it is. "Mom—it's the police!"

A large policeman, complete with gun and walkie-talkie, enters baby Sammie's room. Sammie immediately stops crying. The officer walks over to the crib, puts a little pressure on the two bars, and her chubby thigh pops right out. She jumps to her feet, grabs Mickey Mouse and hurls him at the policeman. Mrs. Abear turns a nice shade of red. Really, officer, I couldn't get it out." The officer is already on his way out the door and, after checking in on his walkie-talkie, turns to Mrs. Abear and says, "The rescue squad will be here any minute. They'll have to file a report, anyway."

One minute later, the rescue squad arrives. Three rescue guys (or whatever they're called—you can't call them a "pair of medics" because there were three of them) rush to the Abear home front door.

An embarrassed Mrs. Abear is waiting at the door with the baby in her arms. "Um, hi. Thanks for coming, but a policeman was already here and he got her out. Nice day, huh?" She is thankful she wasn't in her usual at-home attire—a robe and no makeup.

Camera cuts back to William "Kirk" Shatner. "Well, folks, that concludes this episode of RESCUE A.B.E.A.R. Until next time, I'm William Shatner."

Note: I'd like to say "thank you" to the 911 operator, the Lake County Police Dept. and the Antioch Rescue Squad for their quick response. We have since bought Sammie a "Thighmaster," so, hopefully, you won't be called again.

The sap is running again

The sugar maples have already been tapped at Ryerson Woods near Deerfield, and reservations are now being accepted for the annual "Maple Syruping" programs. These popular family programs begin every 30 minutes from 1 to 3 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays in March.

On the one-hour walk, learn how trees work by discovering how sap is gathered and turned into syrup. All ages are invited. Space in each program is limited, so reservations are required. The fee is $2 for Lake County residents. For more information, call 948-7750.

THEATRE

'Rough-faced'

Tickets are now available for Waukegan Community Players' upcoming production of "The Rough-faced Girl," Saturday, March 25, with performances at 3 and 8 p.m., and again on Sunday, March 26, with a 3 p.m. performance. All performances are held at the Melba Eixom Auditorium on the corner of Jackson and GlenRock in Waukegan. The Waukegan Community Players will be holding auditions for their upcoming spring production of "Bleacher Bums," to be performed on May 4, 5, 6 and 7. The play takes an affectionate look at some long suffering oddball fans of the Chicago Cubs, who haven't won a pennant since 1945. There are five male parts, two female parts, two parts for either sex and one part for a child 10 years and up. For further information, call 662-0181 and leave a message.

'The Long Hot Shower'

Milk Pail Productions has announced its first dinner theatre subscription series for 1995. The series will kick off in March with "The Long Hot Shower," an original comedy by Elgin resident John Laubhan. The show stars Laubhan, Robert Kaye and the acting duo of Kim and Jeff Hawkinson. At preliminary preview showings, the comedy was well received by critics and audiences alike. The Milk Pail is located on Rte. 25 in Dundee, just north of the Northwest Tollway. Call 742-4041 for subscription information.

'Boesman and Lena'

The Bowen Park Theatre Co. will present Athol Fugard's play "Boesman and Lena" in Goodfellow Hall, Bowen Park, just off N. Sheridan Rd. in Waukegan March 17, 18, 23, 24, and 25. Friday and Saturday performance curtain times are at 8 p.m., Thursday performances begin at 7:30 p.m. A special matinee performance will be presented Sunday, March 19, at 3 p.m. The play is set in South Africa during the years of apartheid. The entire action takes place in the mud flats of the river Swartkops, South Africa. Tickets are $12 for adults and $10 for full time students, seniors age 62 and up, and military personnel. Advance reservations are suggested and may be made by calling the Jack Benny Center for the Arts at 360-4741.

Koontz gets no justice in 'Hideaway'

Novels by Dean Koontz tend to zip right along, full of richly-developed characters and good plot maneuver. Something bad apparently happened when screenwriters Andrew Kevin Walker and Neil Jimenez got ahold of his book, "Hideaway."

Jeff Goldblum plays a thoroughly confused Hatch Harrison, who dies after a car accident, and is brought back to life two hours later by an "I've-got-my-own-agenda" Dr. Jonas Nyeburn (Alfred Molina). (Calling Dr. Nyeburn - can you bring this movie to life, please?)

Hatch is now mentally connected with psychotic serial-killer youngster Vassago (Jeremy Sisto), and, through a series of nightmares, dreams, and pain, learns that Vassago has deadly designs on his daughter Regina (Alicia Silverstone). Hatch's wife Lindsey (played woodenly by Christine Lahti), is appropriately disturbed by his visions and paranoia, believing it the result of seeing their younger daughter Samantha killed long ago by a drunk driver. Hatch sets out on a crusade to find Vassago, and protect his remaining family.

This is a film with problems: it's predictable, has some serious plot flaws, and slogs at a tedious shuffle through gore and tense moments. Forty-five minutes into the movie, Hatch turns to Lindsey and pleads "What's happening?!" This reviewer had the same question.

Director Brett Leonard, a big proponent of special effects

Zeitgeist, got his fill in here, and that part is very effective - almost overdone.

The sound-track will appeal to grunge-punk-metal enthusiasts, featuring Godflesh, and similar musicians.

The last 30 seconds - after the end credit roll - are a good joke, but don't help the rest of the movie enough to recommend it at full price.

The visual effects will lose something on the small screen, but if you have a decent audio system, listening to the sound-track while watching the video may make up the difference.

"Hideaway" gets two out of five stars. It's rated "R" for nudity, violence, and language. —by JEFFREY P. BROWN

Cruising Can Be A Family Affair

by JIM WARNKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

My memories of childhood vacations include our happy family of five piling into the Ford station wagon for a week of fun, excitement, and lots of compromises.

First, we all had to agree on where we were going to stop for lunch. Then, there was the debate as to which restaurant we would have dinner. By the time we were ready to stop for the night, the choice of motels became an all out war!

This need to compromise carried on through to all activities and sightseeing during the entire trip.

Not having to compromise may be one of the most attractive features of family cruising.

Today's modern superliners offer almost constant activities for all ages. All members of the family can do their own thing.

Dad and the boys may want to try trap shooting, or maybe practice their golf drive. Mom can try her luck at bingo, or maybe the slots in the casino if she feels really lucky. The girls can either head for the disco, or maybe an aerobics class or how about just lying around the pool and looking at all the cute guys.

If the kids don't want to eat with the adults, there's usually a pizza parlor or hamburger stand on the ship.

Even the youngest members of the family are not left out with their own kiddie pool, and youth counselors to help them with arts and crafts.

The cost of taking a family on a cruise may be less than you think, since regardless of which size cabin you choose, the third, fourth and fifth passengers pay the same low "extra person in cabin" rate. This puts the per person cost of even a suite within the range of many family budgets.

When you consider the cost of gas, food, entertainment, lodging, etc., you may just find a family cruise costing less than a trip to the Dells, and with a lot less family compromises!

Let there be light

Dear Westfield Homes: When are you going to be done with the sewer system for your new homes? Better yet, when is Federal Parkway going to get their light back on the corner? We can't even see the stop sign at this corner. This is an accident waiting to happen. Please fix this matter right away, before we make a petition on Federal Parkway to make the light come back. Thanks.

Hello, it's March!

I was amazed. I was out driving in my neighborhood last week, and so many people still have their Christmas decorations up. Come on, get with it. It's two months after Christmas. I think you could have found time to put them away by now, or don't put them out at all.

Open invitation

I'm calling to respond to the person who wrote recess is no fun for her children. I am one of those so-called recess mothers and our title is Recess Supervisors. I'd like to invite her to come and spend a day with the kids and see how much fun she has. We supervise the children, we help them open up their cans of fruit, we mother them just like their mothers would at home, maybe even better. For her to say that we stand around all day and do nothing is ridiculous. Our job is physically and mentally stressful and like I said, she should spend a day on her feet, watching 800 children. Thank you.

Needs a new plan

Let's be honest, Lindenhurst Committee of 10, the real problem is with Antioch High School, not the other local schools. Why are you intent on destroying them for your own selfish interests? Aren't you throwing out the baby with the bath water? Get a new plan.

Gotcha!

Lake Villa, help! A faction wants a unit in high school; township has no industrial or commercial revenue. Who will pay? Also, their commissioner, who uses Chicago tactics in politics, sends out his current newsletter with an address missing. Director Hamm's address: 24901 North Rd., Lake Villa. No exceptions in politics.

Drug du jour

I don't expect this printed or anything. I'm just curious how you people pick your headlines. When I see a horse lady and some babies on the table on the front page, and the kids who worked on their play, the musical from the high school in Round Lake, they worked on it for months and are way in the back.

Information, please

I was reading your paper and came upon the article for the play that the high school is doing and I was interested in maybe seeing it, but you showed no dates, no times, nothing. All you have is the picture, nothing else. If you're going to do that, you could at least say some dates, times, whatnot. From what I understand, the kids worked real hard on that and all they get is a little, tiny picture. And also you may want to mention to your readers about giving their garbage men a break. These guys work really hard and people just don't appreciate their work. They're out there in snow, rain, sleet, you name it, hauling their garbage. You may want to mention that. Thanks.

On an upbeat note

Politics are not always down and dirty. I attended a fund raiser for the Unified Party of Wauconda and was delighted to hear upbeat, positive accomplishments and goals from the candidates running for village trustees. My personal thank you as a resident of the Village of Wauconda.

False promises

Hi, I'm from Lake Villa and I wanted to respond to a letter that Jim Semmerling, the Lake Villa Twp. highway commissioner, sent to the residents. He indicated that he was discontinuing services, brush chipping, Christmas tree recycling, sand bags, snow assistance for the handicapped and so forth. When Mr. Semmerling got the brush chipper, he told all the residents that one of the big advantages to him having that for the residents was for brush chipping and to pick up their branches and their Christmas trees, and again this is an example of how fraudulent his promises have been, so that he can procure equipment or things that he can rent out and lend out to other townships. The thing that is amazing is that he does indicate in his letter that we should contact the township board and find out how they are going to cover these services. I would like to remind everyone that three out of the four trustees that are on the Lake Villa Twp. Board did run on Mr. Semmerling's ticket and I find that very curious that he's not even getting along with the people that he ran with. I

Recycle candidates

The people of Round Lake Heights, the Chicken Man's at it again. He's out to buy your vote; free beer, free food and a bunch of bologna with it. Are you going to fall for it the second time? The Party of the People candidates have only been recycled again. If they did such a great job as Party of the People, why aren't they still Party of the People? Think about it.

Change the station

Hi, I'm a local parent of four children. I live in Fox Lake and I wanted to respond to a few people's articles. One somebody had on about a cable station and I wanted to let the parents know that are in the area. If they have US Cable, that the US Cable company has decided to change the cable station for the Hot Flashes, videos, which is a pornographic movie station, which is accessible to the children. Although they've been called and written to about this, they don't seem to have a reason to change it. The other thing is the opinion on the school district. I have several children in the school district out here. Gavin schools are very good schools up until about the grade fifth.

It's scary

I'd like to reference a photo that appeared in the Feb. 24 issue of the Grayslake Times. The photo depicts Mayor Pat Carey accepting an award from a representative from the engineering firm Dames and Moore. According to the article that accompanied that photo, Dames & Moore had received the Centurian Excellence Award from the State of Illinois for their "unique solution" to building Atkinson Road through a wetland area. If I recall correctly, not long after Atkinson went through that construction phase, parts of this road actually collapsed in that wetlands area, and in fact that stretch of road had to be reconstructed not long afterwards. Now I read that this See LIPSERVICE page B17 engineering excellence award was one of 11 that was granted for the entire year by the State of Illinois, and that just makes me suspect of anything or any other projects that received an award. Thank you.

Policky OK

The comment in Upservice about ex-Chief Policky of Hainesville is a very good comment, but I add that not only have we lost a good professional man, we also lost a very good friend. I, for one, don't think that his resignation should have been accepted. Chief, good luck to you and we miss you!

No guarantee

Boy, talk about self-confidence! Who does that owner of the marina in the Waterway Agency think he is? First of all, he has them all conned into paying more for the property than what it's worth, then he's pompous enough to state he's guaranteed no taking of his property will take place. Who the heck guaranteed him that? I personally would never pay more for a piece of property than it's worth, and I resent a governmental agency doing so. I think the state should take his property from him at market price and save the voters and taxpayers a bunch of money. I can hardly wait until this group of yoo-has ask us to raise sticker fees. I'll tell them to go jump in the lake - right by Hidden Cove.

Here we are

Replying to the question of where is the B.E.S.T. committee - Post Office Box 489. We are here and have been here working seven days a week on the Lake Villa Unit District ballot proposal. So far, three different costs to each homeowner have been released. The Gang of 10? Guesswork. District 34's? Shot in the dark. Antioch Community High School's newspaper? Guesswork. All three are fictitious. Now you will hear the truth. Yes, B.E.S.T. has honest answers, truthful answers, because Best has nothing personal to gain from truth. The Gang of 10 has all their ducks in a row, but the ducks are ugly. District 34 has figures protecting their bureaucracy, which they refuse to give up. And the school's newspaper prints whatever they are fed. B.E.S.T. needs donations!

Please vote no

Antioch, beware of the unit school district. Please vote no on this. For Antioch people, if it goes through, we will be in court for years. There is no way of knowing how much we have to pay if the unit district passes. Please vote no, it will cost us so much money!

Sick of rudeness

I agree with the gentleman from Round Lake about the rude drivers. It's really getting bad. I'm confused as to why people stop for the stop signs, look to the left, look to the right, see you coming, and then pull out in front of you! Then, not only content with just cutting you off and almost having you hit them, they flip you off and they slam their brakes on because, gee, you're too close to their bumper. I don't know why this is, but it's happening a lot when I try to get into traffic. I step on the gas and try to go with the flow of traffic. I don't say go slow, that's ridiculous. Keep with the pace of traffic. If you see another car coming, just get out of their way. Chances are, they'll pass you and you'll never see them again. And why do people have their fog lights on? I thought they were against the law like driving with your brights in normal traffic? They're blinding and it's ridiculous!

Not just Grayslake

To the person who called regarding the Grayslake mail, we have the same problem in Round Lake Beach. I have called the post office at least four different times. I get someone else's mail at least three times a week. I wonder if I get all my mail? It's ironic, but my magazines don't seem to always make it here. I wonder who's reading them? The post office in this area doesn't seem to care what's going on. If you get your mail, or when you get your mail. Perhaps we should reorganize this and get people to know their routes. It seems like there's new drivers all the time. Get with it, post office, people are getting fed up!

No billboards

Those huge ugly billboard signs are making their way up Rand Rd. They're on their way to being installed in Lake Zurich, particularly at the White Hen there. I don't want any of those ugly signs in Lake Zurich. I think Rand Rd. looks terrible with those signs. Call your representative about this!

Unit looks good

I'm calling about the unit school district. One thing my school in Millburn hasn't told me is that what if the unit doesn't pass and they need to add eight new classrooms? That's going to cost me some money. They're also talking about a new school. My taxes are awfully high already and the unit is looking like a better situation for me. My kids will be able to play with their friends in the same school district and my taxes won't go sky-high. I'd be happier paying for a unit that covers my children up to 12th grade than listening to the school board and them not telling you future costs.

Just a reply

I'm calling to respond to something I read in one of the local papers which suggested that Millburn school was trying to put out information saying that they were a better school than District 41. I read this information and this was not the intent of the information. They were trying to respond to some unit school propaganda that those who were residents of Millburn received, but residents of Lake Villa did not. That information stated that Millburn school wasn't properly preparing its middle school students for high school. Of course, when the Millburn teachers saw this, they were incensed as they should have been.

Pro gun control

I'm a sportsman and an ex-member of the NRA. I disagree with Phil Crane and the NRA and their stance on assault weapons and machine guns. There's no reason to have these for sporting purposes or any purpose in the United States. The reason that I'm an ex-member is because I found out the NRA is controlled by the weapons industry and the arms manufacturers. And I also read in the Second Amendment of the Constitution that it talks about a well-regulated militia. Well-regulated implies controlled. There is nothing wrong, illegal, or un-American with gun control.

Shoppers can make Easter wishes come true

Gurnee Mills Mall customers can help make a young child's Easter extra special by shopping at a Lambs Farm retail store.

Now through Saturday, April 8, each time a shopper purchases an Easter basket from the Lambs Farm store at Gurnee Mills or at the Lambs Farm facility in Libertyville, Gurnee Mills will donate a toy lamb to a Make-A-Wish child. Baskets also can be purchased by calling 1-800-52-LAMBS.

The toy lambs will be distributed at a "Make-A-Wish" family Easter Brunch, held on Sunday, April 9 at the Show Court in Gurnee Mills. Lambs Farm also will donate 10 percent of sales on its Easter baskets to the Make-A-Wish Foundation at the brunch.

Lambs Farm has provided vocational, residential and social support and services for 34 years to adults who are developmentally disabled. The Make-A-Wish Foundation of Northern Illinois works to fulfill the favorite wishes of children between the ages of 2 1/2 and 18 years who suffer from life-threatening illnesses.

"This Easter, Gurnee Mills and Lambs Farm will be able to brighten the spirits of children who face incredible obstacles by giving them a gift and a special opportunity to spend time with their families during the holiday," said Harry D. Stecher, general manager of Gurnee Mills. "We think our shoppers will enjoy the opportunity to become involved in our program, which benefits children from the Make-A-Wish Foundation and the Lambs Farm participants."

The Easter brunch, held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday, April 9 at the Show Court in Gurnee Mills, will include a special meal and live entertainment for approximately 50 Make-A-Wish children and their families.

"We are proud to be working with such terrific, caring organizations as Lambs Farm and the Make-A-Wish Foundation," added Stecher. "These two organizations exemplify the spirit of giving we have strived to create through this Easter program."

Managed care: The best of old-fashioned health

Managed care is a bit of health care industry jargon that may still be new to a lot of Americans. But for millions of others who are in quality managed care plans like HMOs and PPOs, the medical services they receive are familiar, comfortable and reminiscent of the days when people thought of their doctor as a family member.

That image runs contrary to the one painted by critics of managed care who cite isolated anecdotes to support their arguments. Facts, however, show that the overwhelming majority of people who belong to managed care plans are happy with their health care and their doctors. One Kaiser Foundation study found 83 percent of HMO members were satisfied with their physicians, compared to 79 percent of non-members.

What makes managed care members so content? Perhaps it's the fact that managed care physicians are so well qualified. The best HMOs and PPOs are very selective when it comes to allowing doctors to join their networks. The American Medical Assn. reports that 85 percent of HMO physicians are board-certified. Among all physicians in the country, only 60 percent are board certified.

Of course, it takes more than a piece of paper to make a good doctor. Like the old-time family doctor, the primary care physicians in managed care are generalists with a broad perspective. They make diagnoses and prescribe treatment with the whole person in mind. And like the old-time family doctor, the primary care physician doesn't hesitate to refer a patient to a specialist when necessary. Critics should note that from an economic viewpoint, it's in the long-term best interest of a managed care plan to make sure a patient gets the best medical care as quickly as possible. Skimping on care just doesn't make sense or cents.

The quality of managed care can also be measured in other ways. The managed care physician, freed from the pressures of having to maximize billings, can actually spend time listening to each patient, much like the family doctor was able to do in slower paced times long gone. And 87 percent of HMO members, in a survey, reported having a regular doctor, compared with 80 percent of non-members.

HMOs and PPOs have actually improved on the old-time family doctor when it comes to preventive medicine. Sophisticated computer systems allow these plans to track things like regular check-ups, immunizations and mammograms, sending gentle reminders to forgetful patients. Again, it's smart medicine and smart business to catch disease early.

Managed care is becoming more popular, with estimates that by the end of this decade, 80 percent of Americans with health care coverage will be in these plans. And as competition among plans intensifies, patient satisfaction will be more critical. There is every reason to believe that the best aspects of the old-time family doctor will survive and flourish in the new age of health care.

Hand surgeon elected to top Assn.

Bradford C. Roberg, M.D., FACS, a plastic surgeon on Good Shepherd Hospital's medical staff, has been elected to membership in the American Assn. for Hand Surgery.

Requirements for membership include extensive experience and expertise in performing a wide range of hand surgery procedures and appropriate specialty board certification.

In addition, Roberg has published articles and lectured on a variety of subjects related to surgery of the hand.

Also specializing in plastic and reconstructive surgery, Roberg has been in practice since 1985. He received his doctor of medicine degree from Rush Medical College, Chicago, and served his internship at University Hospital, San Diego. In addition, he completed his residency at University Hospital, San Diego, and Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center, Chicago.

Certified by the American Board of Plastic Surgery, Roberg received his plastic surgery training at the Univ. of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston, and is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

In 1994, he was elected to membership in the American Society of Aesthetic Plastic Surgery, in which membership is limited to approximately 900 plastic surgeons in the U.S. and 200 more internationally.

Roberg's office is located in the Crystal Lake Professional Center.

Future doctors sought for summer program

Ten high school students are being sought to participate in Good Shepherd Hospital's Future Physicians Program this summer.

The six-week educational program offers students the opportunity to observe the daily activities of various hospital areas including surgery, radiology, the laboratory, obstetrics, the emergency room, orthopedics and nursing units. Participants also will spend time with specialists from Good Shepherd's medical staff.

The full-day sessions will be held each weekday from June 12 through July 21. Students will be paid a stipend at the end of the program.

Good Shepherd's Future Physicians Program is open to all high school students entering their senior year in the fall of 1995 who are interested in pursuing medical careers. Preference will be given to applicants who live within the hospital's service area.

Applications now are being accepted for review. Candidates will be evaluated on criteria including their academic records, maturity and reasons they wish to pursue a health care career. The deadline for applications is April 3. The 10 program participants will be announced May 15.

Since it began in 1991, 40 students have completed the Future Physicians Program at Good Shepherd Hospital. The only program of its kind in the Chicago area, it is funded by Dr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, Good Shepherd's medical staff, the Auxiliary of Good Shepherd Hospital and community donations.

For more information about the program or an application form, contact Marianne Kamin, Good Shepherd Hospital Future Physicians Program, at 381-0123, ext. 5028.

Contributions to the Future Physicians Program can be directed to Good Shepherd Hospital's development department, 450 W. Highway 22, Barrington, IL 60010.

Good Shepherd Hospital, which is part of Advocate Health Care, is located north of Barrington on Highway 22, two miles west of Rte. 59. Advocate, based in Oak Brook, is one of the largest health care organizations in the Chicago area.

Baskets of hope

Pitching in to help make this Easter special for Make-A-Wish children are Gurnee Mills Mall, Lamb's Farm and the Make-A-Wish Foundation. Proceeds from the sale of Easter baskets made by Lamb's Farm residents will be donated to the Foundation which works to fulfill the favorite wishes of children who suffer from life-threatening illnesses. From left are Mark McCleneghan, Lamb's Farm resident; Harry Stecher, general manager of Gurnee Mills Mall; Donn Pail, former Chicago White Sox, Chicago Cub and Make-A-Wish advisory board member and Lamb's Farm residents Linda Balsom and Joyde Uebberman.

St. Therese gets radiology approval

St. Therese Medical Center, Waukegan, has been approved by the American College of Radiology's Mammography Accreditation Program. The facility has met the necessary requirements, which include a stringent review by a panel of breast cancer detection experts.

The reviewers evaluate the staff qualifications, equipment, quality control and quality assurance programs at a facility applying for accreditation. The quality of the image and the amount of radiation are measured and must meet rigid standards. Accreditation must be renewed every three years.

One in nine women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. Early detection is the key to survival. Mammography done in conjunction with breast physical examinations provides the most accurate diagnosis of early breast cancer.

Only 6,000 facilities have been accredited nationwide in the six-year history of the program. It was started in response to concerns by radiologists, other medical organizations, and the public that only qualified personnel perform and interpret mammograms, and that only equipment specifically designed for mammography be used. The goal is to ensure women receive the best mammography examination with the lowest possible risk.

Women's Wellness Week held at Camp Duncan

Join a dynamic group of women and explore a holistic approach to wellness. Women's Wellness Week offers a supervised, nutritional, low-fat food program, exercise classes and healthy lifestyle seminars. It will be held at Camp Duncan in Ingleside Aug. 20 to 25.

Camp organizers say a typical day begins with an early morning hike and wake-up stretches, followed by breakfast, a step aerobics class, lunch, swimming, boating and canoeing, healthy lifestyle seminars, volleyball, dinner, hikes and an evening program and relaxation exercises before bed.

Not all campers participate in the exercise activities, according to Cass Hale, Women's Wellness Week camp director. "There are some who come to paint, read, or some just relax. You have the choice of participating or not. This is a week to relax and unwind. You may want to pamper and treat yourself to a massage, haircut and/or manicure—all available on site for an additional charge. Come see the difference that a well planned program of exercise, healthy food, relaxation and health-related activities can make."

Make new friends, enjoy Camp Duncan's natural surroundings and have lots of fun. For more information, call YMCA Camp Duncan at 546-8086.

Babysitting classes offered to students

Students age 11 to 16 are invited to attend a special four-hour babysitter preparation class to help them learn safety tips to use while caring for young children. Babysitter Prep classes are offered as a free community service. The class will be offered five times during the spring. Classes meet from 6 to 10 p.m., and students can choose to attend any one of the following nights: March 24, April 7, April 21, May 5 or May 19. All classes will be held at Victory Memorial Hospital, 1324 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan. Class size is limited to 18 students per session. Because classes fill up fast, pre-registration is required. Seidenberg hosts town hall

GRAYSLAKE—Noah Seidenberg, the Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative in Grayslake, will host a satellite broadcast March 22. The program will consist of a town-hall style meeting at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D.C., and will feature Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich (R-Ga.) and House Majority Leader Dick Armey (R-Texas). Gingrich and Armey will discuss possible reductions in both spending and taxes with a panel of House Republicans. Welfare reform and a capital gains tax cut are on the agenda. Other members of the panel will include Majority Whip Tom DeLay (R-Texas), Republican Conference Chairman John Boehner (R-Ohio). Budget Committee Chairman John Kasich (R-Ohio) and Ways and Means Committee Chairman Bill Archer (R-Texas) are also scheduled to participate, subject to activity on the floor of the House at the time of the broadcast. For more information on the March 22 broadcast, or to reserve a seat, contact Seidenberg at 223-1908.

Satellite town meeting held

GRAYSLAKE—At 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 21, the Lake Co. Business Industry Education Consortium will join communities across the U.S. in the GOALS 2000 Satellite Town Meeting, the monthly, interactive video teleconference for communities working to reach the National Education Goals. This month's topic is MATH and Science: Education for the 21st Century. U.S. Education Sec. Richard Riley and Deputy Secretary

Madeleine Kunin will co-host the meeting, which will focus on how schools and communities can design challenging math and science programs to provide students with the knowledge and skills they will need to compete for jobs and lead successful lives in the next century.

Software critics leave question 'What about Bob?'

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

If Microsoft can be believed, and they spent loads of money on market research to prove their case, Bob is the best friend to computer novices everywhere. If 99.9 percent of the computer critics across the nation can be believed, the word 'novice' should be replaced with less flattering terminology.

Bob is the latest offering from Gates & Co. designed to make computers more usable to the unwashed masses, much like Microsoft Windows did when it created a sensation for frustrated DOS users several years back. According to Microsoft, Bob contains eight essential programs to help one complete household tasks more efficiently and quickly. Included are a calendar, letter writer, checkbook, address book, electronic mail, financial guide, a geography quiz game and household manager to help you keep track of records.

There is little question among critics that Bob's programs are useful. Indeed, many experts think they are downright wonderful. The problem lies in the 'social interface' which is the core of Bob's appeal to beginners. The interface appears literally as Bob's house, asking you to move from room to room. There is no need for a manual because you can choose one of ten amicable friends to offer help at any time.

The social interface is a problem among the computer literate because it gets in the way of speed. There is no need to see a checkbook sitting on the desk in order to know how to call up your checkbook manager. What's more, in spite of how useful the individual programs are themselves, they are landlocked by Bob, held prisoner, if you will. Anyone wanting to move them out of Bob and into their Windows file manager just to get away from Bob is out of luck.

Another thing about Bob is he joins the ranks of memory hogs. Even though he is designed for beginners, the system you need to run him on is not a toy. For starters, you need 8 mb of RAM and make sure you have a spacious hard drive. Bob takes up 32 mb of space, around 50 if you include the add ons. For good measure, you might as well toss in at least a 486DX/2 66 micro-processor.

So, what about Bob? To dash the critics, he does actually seem to be getting the respect he deserves from the market Microsoft is targeting. One critic in particular was confounded at a computer trade show when he stood watching a Bob demonstration, thinking how insipid and useless the program is. His thoughts were interrupted by a man standing beside him in coveralls (remember the part about choosing who to believe?) who said he just might buy a computer if it was as neat as this.

The Chicagoland debut of Bob is March 18 at the Adventure Learning Club in the Hawthorn Mall in Vernon Hills. On hand to help introduce Bob will be Creative Writer/Fine Artist McZee along with Ms. Frizzle from the Magic School Bus. The preview will be from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Kemper Securities established the Chairman's Circle of Excellence to recognize successful investment consultants who best achieve sales excellence through productivity, ethical business practice, quality service and professional growth.

Customer service seminar offered "Bringing the Customer In," a two-hour satellite seminar, will be offered by the College of Lake County's Center for Economic Development on March 21 at CLC's Grayslake campus, 19351 W. Washington St. The program will be broadcast from noon to 2:30 p.m. from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce television studios in Washington, D.C.

Peter R. Scholtes, an internationally recognized management expert and author of the best-selling business book, "The Team Handbook," will present the seminar. Designed for business owners, managers and leaders of business teams, the seminar will teach participants how to use customer feedback to make meaningful management and marketing decisions. Scholtes will discuss approaches for identifying customers, collecting useful customer input via telephone and personal contact, and interpreting and applying customer feedback.

The seminar is second in a series of teleconferences co-sponsored by the South Central Lake County Chamber, the Lake County Chamber and the Libertyville/Mundelein/Vernon Hills Chamber. Subsequent sessions on management, communications and leadership will be held April 4, 11 and 18, and May 2 and 23. The cost is $55 per session; $110 for two; $165 for three; $200 for four; $250 for five; and $300 for six. For information and registration, call 223-3614.

Microsoft Bob actually appears to the viewer as individual rooms in Bob's house. Bob offers eight useful household tools from a checkbook to an inventory keeper. The new software package has been lauded by Microsoft as the computer novice's best friend, but generally panned by the national computer media.

SEC Approves Mutual Fund Reporting Rules

Mutual funds have become one of the most popular investments available. They were introduced in this country less than 70 years ago, and today investors can choose from more than 4,000 funds.

When you consider how well mutual funds in general have performed, it's easy to understand why they're so popular. For years, mutual fund shareholders enjoyed the benefits of a rising stock market. During that time, many mutual funds posted gains that are not likely to be repeated in the near future.

In 1994, however, the market stalled and began to consolidate. As a result, some mutual funds experienced sharp declines in value, and their shareholders, who had grown to expect regular increases, were surprised.

One reason many investors were surprised is that they didn't understand the investing parameters of their mutual funds. These are described in each fund's prospectus, which should be read thoroughly before an investment is made. Rather than reading the prospectus, though, many investors look for publications that rank mutual funds, hoping to discover the magic fund. However, these magazines seldom agree, because they each use their own criteria.

Investors also may seek answers from mutual fund advertisements. No-load funds market their shares to the public mainly through advertising. As the number of funds has increased, so has the number of advertisements.

To help investors better evaluate their mutual fund choices, the SEC recently approved mutual fund ranking guidelines proposed by the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD). The bottom line of these guidelines is that if a fund claims to rank first in a category, it must be able to prove the claim.

The guidelines should help protect investors from overzealous advertising. The new rules allow funds to promote themselves, but also require the funds to include standard information including sales charges and fees, what category the funds are in, how many funds are in that category, the period of time covered and more.

Mutual fund reporting requirements should help investors avoid being taken in by conflicting rankings and confusing jargon. Simple, understandable language that explains the risks and rewards of each mutual fund will help you avoid surprises and make it easier to select the right fund for your objectives.

Market Journal moves office

Even though the Lake County Market Journal is moving to smaller quarters March 20, Sales Manager Bob Schroeder says customers will not notice a decline in services.

"We are streamlining our operation by moving to a more efficient office, which allows us to be more productive and improve our service," said Schroeder.

In fact, other than having a more efficient operation, Schroeder sees the move as somewhat anti-climatic. For years, the Market Journal offices have been at 101 Center St. in Grayslake. The new office space is just a few doors east at 137 Center St.

"We wanted to stay in a central Lake County location, basically within 15 minutes of everywhere in the county," said Schroeder.

He said customers will not notice an effect in the delivery of the shopper for the week of the move. The phone number for the business will remain 223-3200.

Why most investors lose money on their investments

DAVID FERST

At a party, a stranger slides up to me and whispers, "I heard that you're an investment guru. What do you think of ABC Corporation as an investment?"

The first impulse is to run, because this conversation usually leads to a tale of investor woes. But hope springs eternal and so I ask, "How did you hear of this investment?"

The usual response is "a close friend" or "a distant relative." I ask, "Does it fit into your financial plan?" and my question is greeted with a blank stare.

Why are so many investors amazed that they lose money on their investments? They spend more time preparing for their vacation and use more common sense deciding where to go, how to get there, and how much they should spend.

The keys to successful investing involve knowledge, planning and time.

Knowledge comes from an education and experience. If you don't have the knowledge because of a lack of time, inclination or ability to learn about investing, you must hire a professional to provide it for you.

Planning provides a process to identify and implement a strategic action plan to help you work towards your goals. Investment discipline is learned as part of this process. Again, if you can't do it yourself, hire a professional.

Time is the irreplaceable element for successful investing. Most people procrastinate. They wait for a better time to invest or for the perfect investment, often ending up without sufficient time to achieve their goals.

To properly answer the question at the beginning of this article, there are four steps to determine if an investment is appropriate:

- Define your goals in meaningful terms. "I will need a monthly, after-tax income of $3,000 at age 65," provides a definite target.

- Calculate the rate of return necessary to work towards your stated goals. Do you know what your total, after-tax return was for 1994?

- Review asset allocation classes to determine whether this rate of return can be achieved at a level of risk acceptable to you. Higher returns mean higher risk.

- Identify the investments that fit the desired asset allocation model. There are over 20,000 stocks and mutual funds for you to choose from—which ones are best suited for you?

IRS makes two record keeping changes for charity donations

If you made donations to charity during 1994, there are two record keeping changes that may affect you, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

The first change involves contributions of $250 or more. In order to claim a deduction for contributions of this size, you will need to get a written acknowledgment from the charitable organization. Make sure to get this statement before you file your 1994 return. If you give by check, the IRS says it's still a good idea to keep copies of your canceled checks. But canceled checks alone will no longer be good enough.

In most cases, each payment counts as a separate contribution. That means, for example, if you donated $200 to a charity in May and another $200 to the same group in October, you will not need to get a written acknowledgment. But two or more checks to the same charity on the same day are treated as a single contribution. Many organizations routinely issue receipts for contributions of any size, and the IRS says it's still a good idea to keep these acknowledgments even if your donations are under $250.

The second change affects so called quid pro quo payments. These are payments for which the giver receives something of value in return, the IRS says. A charity must issue a statement for each payment of this kind if it receives that is more than $75. Among other things, the statement must estimate the value of goods or services received by the donor. A statement would be required if, for example, you go to a fund-raising dinner costing $100 but worth only $40. In this situation, you could only deduct $60 as a charitable contribution.

For more information, call the IRS at 1(800)829-3676.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

G: Dear...Search: A few weeks ago I was involved in a down-sizing within the company I worked for for two-and-a-half years. While I believe my skills are marketable, I registered with an employment agency the day following my termination, only to have never heard from them again. My friend, who was staying with me from California at the time, was there to greet me after my interview and said that she was stunned at how I dressed for an initial interview with the agency I applied with. I told her that I felt that it didn't matter that I went in wearing shorts and a tee-shirt. My skills speak for themselves. She told me that she felt I should have made a better impression to these people by dressing for the interview if for nothing other than to let them know that I take the work search process seriously. I say it has no bearing on it. People should take you for what you are. Who's right? B.R. - Wauconda
A: Dear B.R. First impressions mean so much! It is important to be sure that your first meeting with anyone involved in your employment security recognizes your drive, ambition and just basically how serious you are taking the job search. For instance, take two individuals vying for the same highly visible position as a customer support specialist paying in the mid-20's, both individuals have similar backgrounds and longevity, one is dressed in a suit and well put-together in that they could basically walk into the position today and fit in...vs...the individual showing for the same interview dressed in shorts, a tee-shirt, sneakers and looking as though they have way too many things to do today but hey...I'll pop in and see if I can get a job, too! These processes of employment are the same whether you are applying with an employment service or the company itself...The impression you make for yourself is crucial to the hiring process. An employment agency acts as an agent for client companies seeking qualified candidates. While the term "qualified" is a word that one can interpret as meaning qualified to do the job, it may be questionable to the interviewer as to whether or not you would take your job seriously if you did not show any effort in taking the interviewing process seriously. You also make mention that you have never heard from the employment service again...what you failed to mention is whether or not you have ever tried to reach them. The fact that you may (by your attire) have given the impression of not being serious or eager to find a job, coupled with the fact that you have not called to check in with them, could truly leave one to believe that you are not anxious or willing to put out any effort yourself. Try giving them a call, and this time show some effort in the way that you present yourself.
Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

I HELPED SAVE A SMALL LIFE TODAY!

The Assisi Animal Foundation

We don't destroy homeless animals! They live their full lives uncaged if not adopted. We spay and neuter, conduct a dynamic pet visitation/therapy program for the elderly, provide education programs for young people and offer a special "pet retirement" program. THANK YOU FOR YOUR HELP!

GERING

If you have a hillside lot in mind and are looking for a unique split-level house plan, the well designed Gering should be to your liking. From the stately brick and siding exterior to the economical interior arrangement, the 2473 square foot Gering is indeed admirable.

This plan will work well for a family with older children. With the sleeping quarters on different levels, both parents and kids can maintain a certain amount of privacy.

The luxurious master suite is something to see. Features include: a coffered ceiling in the sleeping and bath areas, huge walk-in closet, separate vanity, linen storage and skylit bathroom with detached shower and relaxing spa tub.

Your guests can enter into the atrium and appreciate the various plant life on display in the built-in planter. As you reach the dining room/living room area, also with coffered ceiling, the fireplace spreads its warmth. Good food, good friends and good conversation belong here.

For the cook in the house, the skylit kitchen is placed between the dining room and the handy breakfast nook. Whether you want to service formal dinners or more casual meals, this arrangement makes it easy. A nearby pantry has plenty of room to keep your dry goods. A half bath is conveniently tucked next to the kitchen. Access to the two-car garage lets you re-supply the ladder without getting wet. There is a shop area, with a long built-in workbench, at the rear of the garage.

The lower level makes good use of available space. Two good sized bedrooms, with a small utility room between them, occupy one side. Bedroom number two has a nice walk-in closet. An optional room sits on the other side of the lower floor. This room can be used as another bedroom, den or home office. Leave out the optional wall and it becomes part of the large family room. Lots of good times can be had here. Just put in a pool table, ping-pong table or a big screen television. There is also room for a wet bar.

For a study kit of the GERING (334-110), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark.

Easing Your Tax Burden

Answers to most frequent questions about taxes and older Americans

The IRS gets a lot of questions from older Americans asking about the special tax rules that affect them. In this column, I'll try to answer two of the most frequent queries: "Is my social security taxable?" and "Do I have to file a return?"

By now you've probably heard that some people will have to start paying higher taxes on their social security or equivalent railroad retirement benefits beginning in 1994. The new law sets up a two-tiered system for taxing these benefits.

The IRS estimates that about two million individuals and married couples fall into the first group. Generally, it includes single people with income between $25,000 and $34,000, and couples with income between $32,000 and $44,000. If you're in this group, you will continue to pay tax on up to 50 percent of your benefits.

About three million older Americans fall into the second tier, which is new for 1994. These are single people with income over $34,000 and married couples with income over $44,000. If your income is above either level, then up to 85 percent of your benefits are included in taxable income.

How do you determine if you are above the income limits? Generally, income consists of your adjusted gross income, with some modifications, plus any tax-exempt interest and half of your social security benefits. If your income falls below $25,000 for a single person or $32,000 for a married couple filing a joint return, your benefits are not taxed.

Your 1994 federal tax package includes worksheets which can help you figure out how much, if any, of your social security or equivalent railroad retirement benefits are taxable. In addition, there is a free IRS booklet which contains a detailed discussion of this topic including examples. To get a copy, call toll-free 1(800)829-3676 and ask for Publication 915, "Social Security Benefits and Equivalent Railroad Retirement Benefits."

The second question is an important one because a lot of people, especially older Americans, who don't need to file returns file anyway. Hopefully, the answer to this question will save you time, headaches, and paperwork.

Generally speaking, people with very low incomes are not required to file federal tax returns. There are some exceptions, however. For example, if you receive income and can be claimed as a dependent on someone else's return, you usually need to file. If you have more than $400 of self-employment income, you must file.

But otherwise, to determine whether you have to file, you need to consider the amount of income you receive, your filing status, and your age. For example, if you're single and at least 65 years of age, you need to file if your income is $7,200 or more. For this purpose, social security does not count as income. If you're married and only one spouse is 65 or over, the income level is $12,000. And if both spouses are at least 65 years old, you don't need to file until your income reaches $12,750.

Even if your income is below these levels, you should file a return if federal income tax was withheld from any of your income. By filing, you'll get all of your withholding back as a refund. Taxes are commonly withheld from wages, pensions, and some gambling winnings. Sometimes, taxes are also taken out of other types of income, such as interest and dividends.

I recommend you look at your tax package if you have questions. It goes into more detail on your filing requirements.—by MARILYN DAY, District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Chicago District.

Smith will return; CLC recognizes winter athletes

Manuel Stutts

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Bruce Smith will be back. Smith, the only men's basketball coach the College of Lake County had, made it official as the school honored winter sports athletes. Next year will be Smith's 28th season.

"I would like to end any speculation that I would not be back. I felt there were some things which should have been done but were not this year and I could not go out in that. I want to go out feeling I did a good job," Smith said.

The Lancers posted a 12-18 record this season in one which had its ups and downs. Highlights included wins over DuPage and Olive Harvey. Low points included losing 20-point leads against Harper and Milwaukee Tech.

Manuel Stutts, a sophomore from Waukegan, was named team MVP as well as MVP for winter sports.

"I worked on rebounding and my jumper," he said. "We could have been better, but you play like you practice."

Also earning MVP honors were Lisa Sinnokrak for women's basketball and Chris Haag for wrestling. Sinnokrak and Stutts were all-Skyway Conference selections.

Stutts, who would like to continue playing at a four-year school, patterns his game after Patrick Tompkins. The Waukegan standout of the 1980s went on to the University of Wisconsin.

Stutts shot 53 percent for two-pointers and 58 percent from the free-throw line and had 470 points.

Justin Hanlin set a CLC record for two-years of top free-throw shooting. The sophomore and Warren High grad shot 87 percent this year and was second in total points with 298.

"We saw some real exciting things in a lot of games from Kelan Williams," Smith said of the freshman. "He can only get better and have a great year next year."

Ramsey Williams shot better than 50 percent from two-point land, and was third with 287 points. "He liked to play above the rim and could rebound players two to three inches taller," Smith commented.

Mike Rudd was one of three players to hit the 70 percent mark from the free-throw line. "He always played hard with a lot of energy. He shot 40 percent from three-point range," Smith said.

Robert Kindle, a 37 percent shooter from the two-point area, and Ronzeyl Newsome, an outside shooting threat with six times hitting six three-pointers, were co-captains.

Kelan Williams shot 45 percent field goals and 72 percent from the free-throw line.

Giangreco offers sports scoop

Mark Giangreco, the charismatic anchor/sports director for WLS-TV/Channel 7, will provide the latest sports scoop at a fundraising breakfast to benefit Highland Park Hospital's Surgical Pavilion.

Giangreco will discuss his career, answer sports questions from the audience and sign autographs. The breakfast will be held March 31 in the Hospital's Education Center from 8:30 to 10 a.m.

Highland Park Hospital is a non-profit facility. The fundraiser is sponsored by the hospital's Employee Partners in Health Campaign, which has pledged $250,000 for completion of phase three of construction of the new Surgical Pavilion.

Tickets are $25 per person. Seating is limited and advance reservations are recommended. To make a reservation, call 480-3774.

CLC in lead for Skyway accolades

College of Lake County spring sports teams figure to have a battle on their hands before locking up a Skyway Conference all-sports trophy.

CLC has 30 points, leading Oakton, which has 25.5. Waubesa is in third place with 24.5 points. Elgin has 23.5, McHenry 21 points and Morton has 16.5 points.

Points are awarded based on league place finishes.

CLC has won the trophy for 15 times out of 19 years.

How Sweet 16 it is for Warren Blue Devils

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

The seeds of Warren High's Sweet Sixteen appearance, the first one since 1989, may have been planted in the gyms of Wadsworth, Highland Park and Gurnee.

Ryan Kelter came off the bench to score 22 points as Warren held off Zion-Benton 87-72 for the Waukegan sectional championship Friday. The win propelled Warren to the Evanston supersectional at Northwestern University's Welsh-Ryan Arena against mighty (28-1) Glenbrook North.

"I attended St. Patrick School in Wadsworth and they started basketball in the fourth grade while some public schools start in the sixth or seventh grade," Kelter said.

The early start gave Kelter, a senior, the fundamentals necessary for those fast break lay-ups and driving off-the-glass shots which contributed to Warren's 59 percent shooting night.

Joe Bongratz led the attack with 25 points and Maurice Foster had 18 as it was Warren players cutting down the nets at Waukegan East High as opposed to the second-seeded Zee-Bees.

"It was very evident throughout the game we were not going to be denied. We are very resilient. We have had some very frustrating losses. We keep grinding and playing. Whenever Zion made their run, everyone in Lake County knows how they go on spurts. We never folded. We stayed in control of the game," a jubilant Warren Coach Chuck Ramsey said.

"Warren has never been picked. We have always been the underdogs. We are trying to prove ourselves, what we have and who we are. There is no pressure on us."

—Ryan Kelter

"Warren has never been picked. We have always been the underdogs. We are trying to prove ourselves, what we have and who we are. There is no pressure on us," Kelter said.

Warren (22-7) overcame a 7-point first quarter deficit courtesy of Kelter. He led the way with three first period field goals.

Zion's (24-5) shooting, meanwhile, began to fall off as the Zee-Bees would miss 45 shots in the 32 minutes.

"We take what is there. If we get open, we shoot. Sometimes it is off one pass. The way Zion scrambles, you get open sooner. Zion has an outstanding ball-club," Ramsey said.

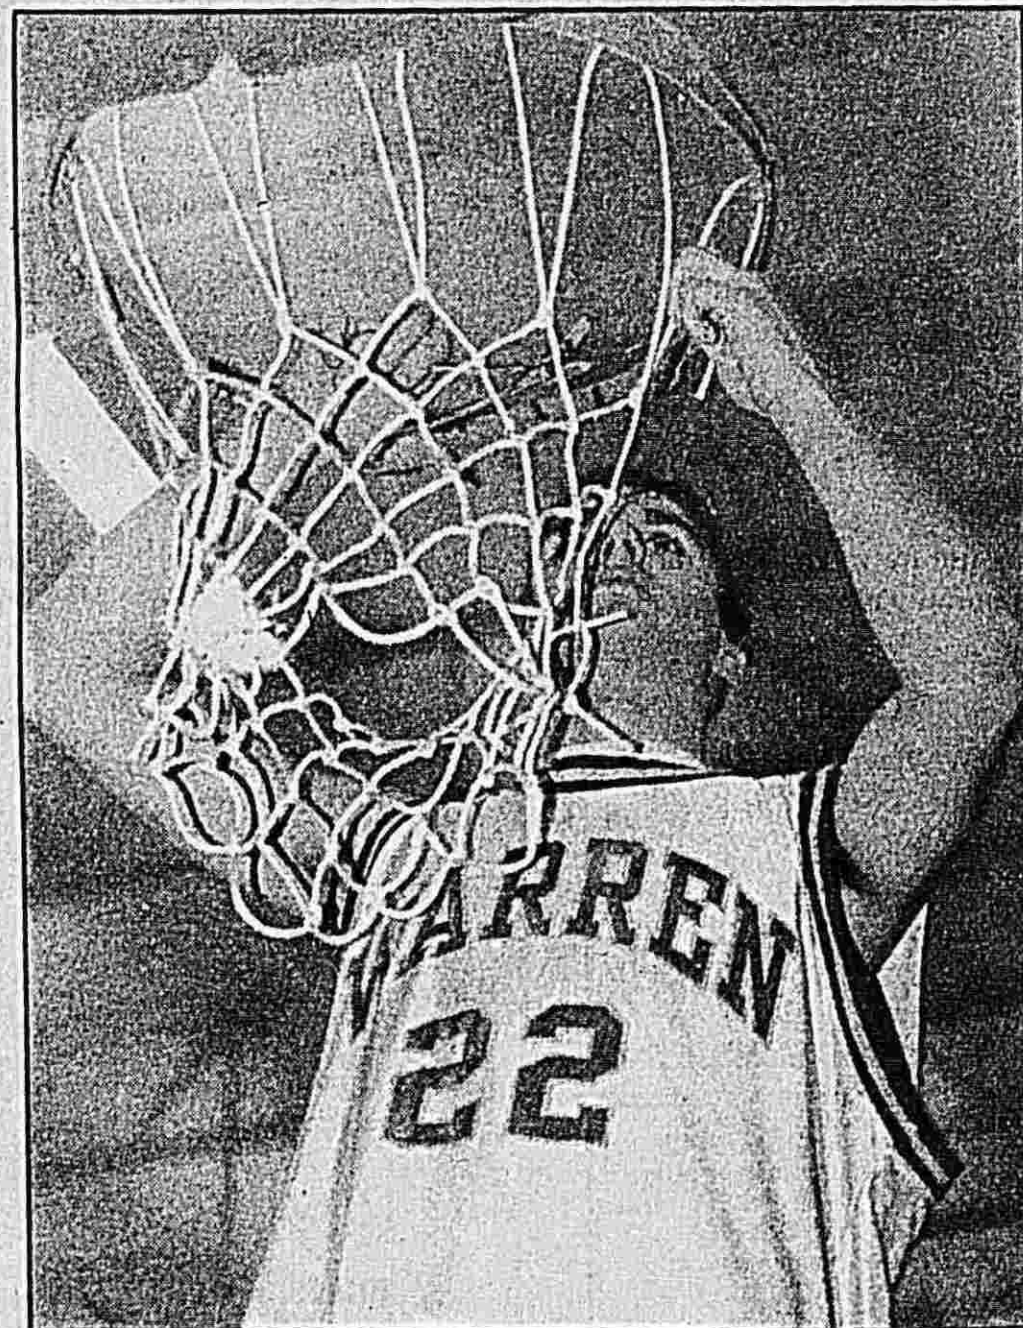

Guard Joel Dangel played a workmanlike game. Despite suffering from an ankle injury incurred in the sectional semifinal two days earlier, Dangel beat the Zion press each time and had 7 assists and 5 points.

"We knew we just had to play our game. They have been trying to turn it on when they want. They think they can just come back. We did not let it happen. We got the ball into Bongratz and they could not guard him, they are too small," Dangel said.

"Kelter stepped up and did the job but Bongratz and Moo did as well. It was a team effort," he added.

Aunny Kimbrough and Darius Wesley both were pulling up from 25-30 feet for three-point shots which hit the rim. When that happened with less than two minutes left and when Warren grabbed rebounds without any battles, suddenly the dream of Sweet Sixteen was about to become real.

Bongratz took advantage of his 6-foot, 5-inch frame which towered over the smaller Zion players. He had 16 rebounds to go with his 25 points. He received perfect passes from Eric Bradley, Kelter and Luke Moo and Kelter had two baskets as Warren built up a 30-22 lead with 3:23 left half started. Zion had made a 13-point Deerfield lead vanish quicker than you could say "Kimbrough for three" and an earlier 18-point Libertyville lead became history in short order.

The shooting was not there for the Zion club this night as 4,000 fans looked on. They missed their first three shots of the second half. Their consistent weapon was Wesley, who finished with 27 points.

Warren upped its lead to 16 points and thoughts of Evanston began dancing in the minds of the faithful. Bradley cutting into the lane, Bongratz from Luke Moo, Foster, a tip-in by Luke Moo and a Dangel basket completed a 10-4 run for a 50-34 lead.

Kelter finished the third quarter strong, with a bank shot and a fast-break layup for a 20-point Warren lead after three, 64-44.

Warren kept the lead in double digits in most of the fourth quarter. The lead reached 15 points when Dangel assisted Bongratz at 5:46 left. Chris Hayes and Bongratz hit baskets for a 73-50 lead with just over four minutes left.

Zion made one last mini-run, cutting the lead to nine points.

But Foster hit two pull-up jumpers in the lane for a 78-65 lead with 2:01 left. The junior moved to Gurnee from Highland Park and No. 42 believes that was the best move of his young life.

The Warren celebration did not begin until about 50 seconds left when Bradley hit two free throws and Dangel followed suit for a 17-point lead.

Kelter led the way in the ceremonial dousing of the coach as Ramsey probably never thought could ice water could feel so good.

"If anybody had the guts to dump water on me, Kelter would," Ramsey said.

Slate Street Billiards hosts world's largest 9-ball tour

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

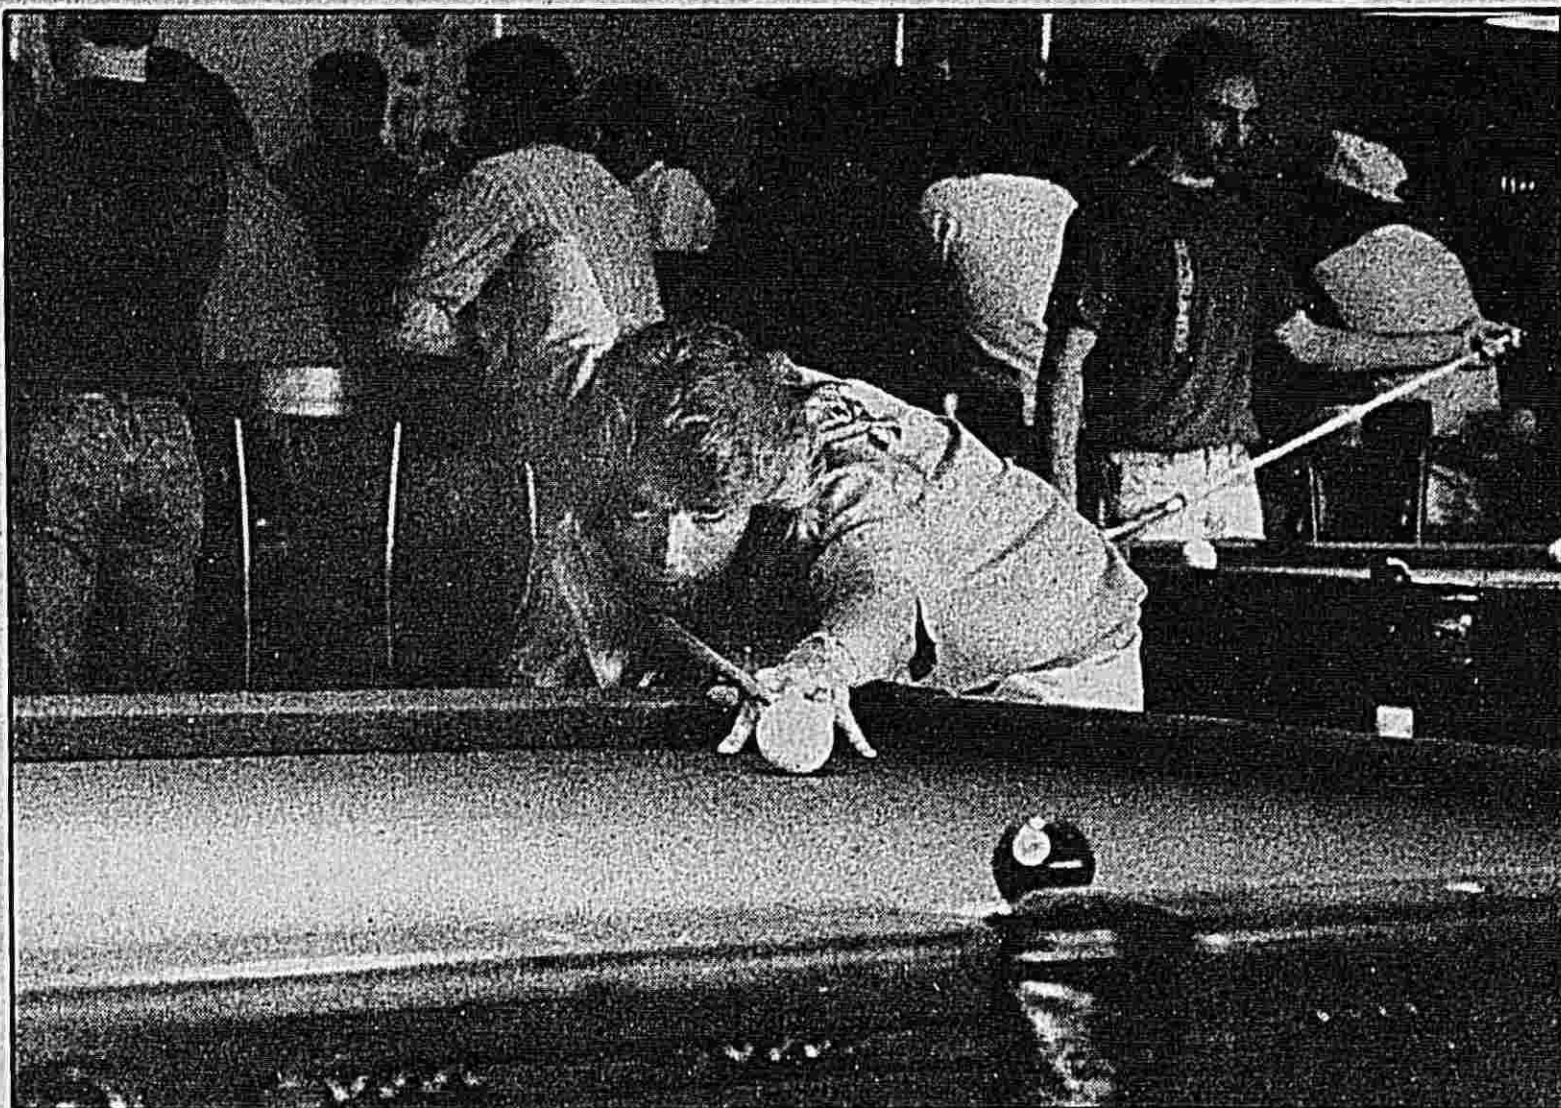

Doctors and lawyers by day, serious pool players by night—more than 100 pool players from across the country converged at Slate Street Billiards in Vernon Hills for the McDermott National 9-Ball Tour, the world's leading and largest billiards tour.

For the stately Slate Street establishment, it was its first major tournament. McDermott, a cue stick manufacturer, sponsors tournaments across the country, but made its first debut at Slate Street Billiards which quickly boasted the largest tournament in Chicagoland.

World renown pool instructor Randy Goettlicher of the Texas Express Tour was impressed by Slate Street's atmosphere and general hospitality.

"As an outsider, they have the nicest pro shop I've ever seen," Goettlicher said. "They've also got the greatest staff I've ever seen from the management staff to the waitress staff. And that's not a slam on anybody else, but this is unreal. They do take care of us."

Those compliments came from an individual who sponsors more than 160 tournaments a year across the continental United States, Canada and Europe. Three other 9-ball tournaments sponsored by Texas Express, including a wheelchair Diana Cora of Columbus, Ind., made the haul to Slate Street Billiards in Vernon Hills to compete in part of the world's largest 9-ball tournament and tour. She was one of 100 sharpshooters and one of 16 women striving for big prize money in Vernon Hills. tournament, were being played at the same time in other parts of the country.

The 100 9-ball sharpshooters at Slate Street were competing for $3,500 in prize money during the two-day event last weekend. More than 40 players were from Lake County. Men, women, white collar workers and blue collar workers all took their chance at the prize money.

"Most of our players are grass-roots players," Goettlicher noted. "They work regular jobs Monday through Friday and then they sneak in for weekend tournaments."

The only qualification to participate is that players must be Texas Express members, but anyone can walk off the street into the tournaments and quickly become a member by paying a $20 membership fee. Players as young as 12 and as old as 80 have competed in the tournaments.

"With the instruction that's now available out there, kids are playing," said Randy Whitewater, also of Texas Express.

The pool scene has quickly changed from smoked-filled pool halls dominated by hustlers to upscale entertainment centers frequented by families, couples and people of all ages.

"This is actually one of the sports of the '90s," noted Jerry Powers of McDermott. Membership to Texas Express increased by 40 percent last year.

Unlike other sports, Powers also noted that adept pool players can pick up a cue stick at any age and compete in tournaments.

"Really, when you turn 30 your body can't handle the physical nature of some sports, but if you still like the challenge of competition, you can play pool," Powers said.

Carl Hahn, co-owner of Slate Street Billiards, said he was impressed with the attendance of his first major billiards tournament and looks forward to more tournaments.

Professional pool player Mike Sigel, who was the technical advisor to Tom Cruise and Paul Newman in the movie "The Color of Money," will be on hand at Slate Street Billiards March 29 from 7 to 11 p.m. Sigel is the winningest player in the history of the Pro Tour.

Other tournaments and fundraisers coming up include a fundraiser sponsored by former Chicago Bear Ron Rivera April 23. Slate Street will also host the Rotary Club International Invitational April 30. More than 120 teams from Lake County Rotary Clubs will be competing for the best pool-playing Rotary Club in Lake County. The event hopes to raise $20,000 for Rotary charitable causes.

Mustang boys spikers plan to contend

Mundelein High's boys volleyball team is starting the new year with large hopes and one of the standouts of the basketball squad.

Ivan Hourritiner will be a senior middle hitter for the Mustangs. He is one of two seniors on the squad coached by Diane Eiserman.

"We have a young team," Eiserman described.

Tony Serreria, a setter, is the other senior on the squad.

Some 15 freshmen reported to the first day of practice Feb. 27 with 14 out for the varsity team.

Eiserman is in her first year as boys head coach after several years as an assistant to Dan Szymkowiak. She is head girls coach at Round Lake High.

"I have helped Dan out coaching the junior varsity. I like it. The boys are intense about it because it is still a new sport. It has been growing over the past five or six years," Eiserman said.

The Mustangs are shooting for a .500 record or better. The team opened play at home March 16 against Rolling Meadows. Mundelein is at Waukegan March 21 and at Hoffman Estates tournament March 24-25 in pre-spring break matches.

"We have a lot of good juniors," Eiserman said.

Three players have club level experience. They are: junior Joe Smith, a middle hitter; sophomore Jeremy Kopstein, an outside hitter and freshman Paul Guilaneli, an outside hitter.

Dave Hampson was the biggest MHS loss to graduation.

North Suburban Conference teams Libertyville and Stevenson also field boys volleyball squads.

Wildwood man takes big bass honors

Wildwood resident Robert Flood had the "hot hand" when he caught the largest bass and finished fourth in the Mariner Outboards Fantastic Fish 'n' Tales Pro/Am Bass Tournament on Lake Okeechobee in Clewiston, Fla.

The fourth-place honors went to Flood and his boat-mates, Mariner Team pro Randy Blaukat and guide Eddie Crosby. Their total was 16 pounds of bass.

Flood's trophy fish weighed in at 6 pounds, 9 ounces. More than 221 pounds of bass were recorded at the weigh-in and then released back into Lake Okeechobee.

For taking fourth place, Flood received a trophy and tournament jacket. For boating the big bass, he also received a trophy and replica mount of the winning fish for his wall at home.

Flood was selected from more than 20,000 entries to participate in the tournament.

Wilmot sets IMCA inspection

Toft Auto Racing announced the addition of a car inspection and practice on April 23.

The inspection and practice session is being added to give IMCA Modifieds an opportunity to get their cars on the track before their season opener of April 29 and complete the IMCA inspection process.

"Since this is the first time many of these drivers will have been in an IMCA Modified, this will give them a chance to see how the car handles prior to the first race night," said Ray Toft. "We encourage all IMCA Mods to come out to the track at least for the inspection. Completing the inspection on April 23 will give them a week to make any necessary changes prior to their first race."

Although the date is intended for IMCA Modifieds, Toft Auto Racing will open the track to all Wilmot classes who wish to take advantage of this inspection/practice session. Inspections will be held from noon until 2 p.m. The track will be open for practice starting at 2 p.m. and close at 5 p.m.

The main grandstand area will not be open for spectators. A discounted pit entry fee will be charged and Star Trac memberships will be available for purchase. For further information contact the track at 838-RACE.

The Silo has the best pizza

When one comes to The Silo in Lake Bluff for a sumptuous pizza feast, it doesn't take that person long to realize they are in for quite a treat. Accolades abound for The Silo's specialty, which has been voted the best pan pizza on the North Shore by the Chicago Tribune, and is said to be "a superior version of Chicago style pan pizza" by Chicago Magazine.

Their varied assortment of pizza delights include supreme, vegetarian, seafood, taco, spinach soufflé, and lasagna. New to the menu is the Frisco Pizza with fresh spinach, sun-dried tomatoes, artichoke hearts, and garlic. If diehards are not satisfied with these complete pizzas, they can load on extra sausage, mushrooms, pepperoni, ground beef, bacon, Canadian bacon, ham, pineapple, anchovies, black olives, onions, green peppers, jalapeno peppers, fresh garlic, sliced tomatoes, broccoli, zucchini, yellow squash, and of course, extra cheese.

Even though pizza connoisseurs will be treated like royalty, one should not assume that The Silo is merely a pizza place. They have a full menu that includes baby back ribs, 4 chicken breast dishes, 7 pasta dishes, 7 varieties of baked potatoes, 22 sandwich choices, 16 appetizers, 6 soups and salads, and some heart healthy servings.

Every Sunday evening from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m., the whole family can be entertained by Tom "BOZ" The Magician. BOZ has appeared on Bozo's Circus, NBC TV, Fox TV, and at The Pump Room.

The family owned restaurant has developed a warm atmosphere for dining and the staff is highly service oriented and more importantly, very friendly. Their loft affords ample banquet space for large groups.

The Silo, located at 625 Rockland Road (Rte. 176), in Lake Bluff, is open 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mon. through Thurs., 11 a.m. to 12 midnight Fri. and Sat., and 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. Sundays. Their phone is (708) 234-6660.

Awards

from Grant, made 51 percent of his two-point tries and finished with 129 points.

Keith Trulove and Grant High product Sean McGeever are looking forward to contributions as sophomores. Steve Holm rounded out the squad, which finished 5-5 in the Skyway Conference, good enough for fourth place.

Coach Stan Pasiewicz recognized the efforts of the wrestling team including: Steve Fuller, Mike Gonzalez, Chris Haag, Mark Schweiss, George Vallach and Justin Zdeb.

Haag was the only Lancer with a winning record. The heavyweight will lead three returning Lancers next year.

Schweiss, a 158-pounder and Grant High grad, was named most improved.

Pasiewicz is hopeful for the future. State qualifiers Tony Carlson of Libertyville and Steve Zalapi of Antioch have indicated they will attend CLC.

The women's basketball team started the season with 13 roster players. It ended with six players and a four-win season.

"We had a great season. It was not successful in terms of wins, but we never quit. Since January, we only had six players for one game and for six games we only had five girls dress. They faced long odds, but never quit," Coach Don Zeman said.

Ria Cruz, freshman Mandy Jacobsen, Nicole Pollard, Kim Rowe, Sinnokrak and Melina Vick concluded the season for CLC. Amy Scharlau had her season ended by a knee injury. Two car accidents ended seasons for other players.

Jacobsen's efforts were recognized at the Harper tourney.

CLC opens with 3 wins

Summerlike weather welcomed the 1995 baseball season and College of Lake County began the campaign on a strong note.

The Lancers won three of four games played at Millikin University in Decatur last weekend.

"It was our first games outside and I was very pleased with our team's intensity," CLC Coach Gene Hanson said.

Eric Blaha opened the 1995 season with a strong game at the plate in a 14-4 season opening win over Millikin. He went 3-for-4 with 2 homers and 5 RBIs. "He is stronger and a lot more mature," Hanson said of the Antioch grad.

Steve Taylor, of Grayslake, was 2-of-4 with 3 RBIs and Bob Olson, a Warren High grad had a hit and 3 RBIs.

Bret Bowles, projected as the ace of the CLC pitching staff, gained the win. The offense was again in high gear with a 13-7 win over the home team. Scott Cartier gained the win and Steve Waldo pitched in relief.

Olson led the way at the plate with a 4-of-5 game with 2 runs scored. Blaha and Matt Pulaski gained two hits each.

CLC lost the third tilt with Millikin, 6-5. Pat Goodman, a freshman from Mundelein, was tagged with the loss. "They did a better job of hitting than we did," Hanson said.

Olson was 2-of-3 with a pair of runs scored.

The fourth game was against McHenry and Josh Williamson gained the win in a 4-1 victory.

"That is an important win because it was against a Skyway Conference and division opponent," Hanson said.

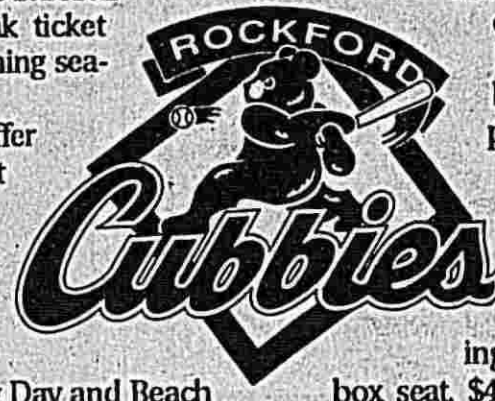

Cubbies Mini-Paks, tickets now available

The Rockford Cubbies minor league baseball team announced that 1995 Mini-Pak ticket plans are now available for the upcoming season.

Mini-Paks are five game plans that offer reserved seats at affordable discount prices on promotional dates.

Mini-Paks are designed around games that feature some of the Rockford Cubbies most anticipated promotions and give-aways. These include Cap Night, Bat Day, Sport Bag Day and Beach Towel Night. Fans that order Mini-Pak plans will receive the best reserved seats available for all five games in their package.

"These Mini-Pak plans give Rockford Cubbies fans the chance to see many games at affordable discount prices," said General Manager Michael Holmes. "There are benefits to being a Mini-Pak holder, including a 10 percent discount card for Cubbies souvenirs and an opportunity to receive great giveaways."

In addition, individual tickets for the team's first game ever on April 7 are now available. Ticket prices for opening night and all 70 home games are $5 per box seat, $4 per reserved seat, and $3 for general admission.

To receive a Mini-Pak brochure or ticket information, call the Rockford Cubbies at (815)962-CUBS. Full, partial and Sunday season ticket plans remain on sale.
